Strozzi's Ranch: Creating A Fire Break

Excerpts from A.J.'s field notes:

Cabin area in need of clearing

Date: 7/30-7/31

Weather: Warm, cool in the morning

Mood: Feeling great but a little annoyed by the flies

Objective: To create a firebreak and to give access to the mining crew to stabilize the structures of the cabins.

Description of Work: We cut down trees, and carried brush away

The project was, at least in my opinion, a success because we did manage to clear out a pretty large pile of branches, and I cut down plenty of small trees. The work was hard but we worked even harder.
