

Dogs and Pets

Dogs and pets at Point Reyes

Dogs are wonderful animals that give comfort and companionship, but their presence can be disruptive to native wildlife, which national parks were established, in part, to protect. At Point Reyes National Seashore, pets are permitted at the Bear Valley Picnic Area, in most parking lots, and on parts of Kehoe, North, South, and Limantour beaches. Park regulations, common courtesy, and good judgment all require that you take special care when bringing your pet to this natural area. Thank you for your cooperation.

Visiting With Your Dog

Dogs are permitted on the following ocean-facing beaches throughout the year:

1. Kehoe Beach - north of the Kehoe Beach trail
2. North Beach - left/south of the parking lot
3. South Beach - right/north to North Beach parking lot and left/south for about 1 mile
4. Limantour Beach - left/southeast of the parking lot to the beach adjacent to Coast Campground

Please Note: Sections of the beaches listed above may temporarily be closed to dogs due to unexpected circumstances. Please check the park's Current Conditions web page at www.nps.gov/pore/playourvisit/conditions.htm for information about temporary closures of the beaches listed above.

When in these areas, dogs must always be on a leash no longer than six (6) feet (variable-length leashes are discouraged). Persons with dogs are required to clean up and remove dog waste.

Pets are not permitted in visitor centers or other public buildings, nor on park trails. Restrictions on where pets may be taken exist to protect the animals and plants that live at Point Reyes, as well as the dogs and pet owners themselves. For maps and more information, visit <https://www.nps.gov/pore/playourvisit/pets.htm>

A list of locations where pets are permitted within other public lands in Marin County may be found on the reverse side of this sheet.

Protect Our Wilderness & Wildlife

Point Reyes National Seashore wilderness zones were created and are managed to preserve and protect the wildlife in these areas.

The presence of dogs can readily disrupt the native ecosystem. Dogs can chase, scare, and transmit diseases or parasites to wild animals, such as deer, nesting birds and marine mammals. Dogs leave behind a "predator" scent typical of all wild canines, like wolves and coyotes. This scent can linger in the area for long periods of time and can disrupt or alter the behavior of the native wildlife, and discourage wildlife from inhabiting areas they would normally occupy. Digging by dogs disrupts native plants.

Your cooperation is necessary if the park is to maintain the natural conditions that make this one of the nation's unique wild areas. Thank you for helping protect the resources of Point Reyes National Seashore.

Service Dogs

ADA-defined service dogs are allowed on trails and in public buildings. If you have a service dog, you may wish to inquire at a park visitor center for information before setting out.

Safety First!

The safety of our canine friends is at risk in park wilderness areas. Running through sharp brush and confronting park wildlife may result in snags, bites, or severe lacerations.

Ticks, which are abundant on deer and brush, readily infest dogs. Not only are ticks bothersome to pets, they also threaten owners with the risk of Lyme Disease.

People have developed rashes and blisters after petting dogs that have come in contact with the park's abundant poison oak.
