What J.F.K. Means to Me

Alexandra Olive
May 18, 2016

J.F.K. was the 35th president of the United States. Jhon was the second oldest of 9 children. He loved to read, play and compete with his older brother Joe Jr. J.F.K. was brave, courageous and determand.

J.F.K. was courageous because he carried a man on his back for 5 hours through the ocean. He was the commander of the PT-109 when a Japanese destroyer ship cut through the PT-109 and killed 2 men. J.F.K. found an island and carved words on a coconut shell asking for help. He won a medal for his bravery. His brother was jelous and set out for a bombing mission and was killed.

J.F.K. was determand to become president and please his parents. After Joe died all their hopes turned to Jhon.

He ran for Senate and the House of Representatives, but running for presedent was the hardest. He was hard working, and won against his opponent Richard M. Nixon. Before his presidency J.F.K. married Jagvin Buvier and they had 2 children named Caroline and Jhon Jr.

J.F.K. was brave and stood up for what he belived in. When segregation had become out of hands, J.F.K. had to do something. He stood up for the rights of black people. He made a speech comparing the lives of a black and white child. He talked to Martin Luther King Jr. who gave the I have a dream speech, which started to make a big change. Unfortunately when J.F.K. was campaigning in Dallas, Texas he was shot and killed.

J.F.K. was brave, courageous and determand. I chose to write about this part of J.F.K.'s life because this is the part that causes people to think and prove their opinion.

He set a great example and made it possible for people to have the freedom we have today.