John Fitzgerald Kennedy has three brothers and five sisters. Jack, as J.F.K was known to his family, went to the Edward Deanton School. I think people still remember J.F.K today because of all the brave and smart things he did.

J.F.K was brave and smart because he helped support Cival Rights. He helped support Civil Rights and made the world a better place to live in. An example of J.F.K brave and courageous is when he helped Martin Luther King Jr. also known as M.L.K. and proved that everyone is equal. Another reason about J.F.K being brave is when he saved most of his crew during World War Two.

An example that supports my reason is that J.F.K had to swim for five hours in the deep sea after the Japaneese Destroyer destroyed his PT 109.

J.F.K was brave and smart. One of the lessons people can learn from J.F.K is that everyone needs to be treated equaly. Even if they have different skin color, have a different religion or any other differences. J.F.K inspired lots of people to be better people. J.F.K inspired me to be a better person.
