What J.F.K Means to Me

By Gad Skurnik

John F. Kennedy was the 35th U.S.A president. He went to Devotion and Dexter school. He did great things. J.F.K was a humorus guy and grew up with stub-born parents and 8 siblings.

First, when he was a kid he loved to have fun and helped make muckers club, a club dedicated to having fun. Also he tried to be Joe. Jr's opposite so he was not very serious. But after seeing part of W.W.II he became much more serious but he was still humorous.

Lastly as a adult he went on a golf cart with lots of nephews and neices for fun and he was president at the time.

That's some ways I think J.F.K was humorous. We are both humorous but I'm not very funny at school. I think being humorous helped him win the election and be one of the greatest U.S.A presidents and help millions of people.
