John F. Kennedy was the 35th president of the USA. J.F.K was caring because he always supported his family and his country.

One way J.F.K. was caring was that he played sports with his family when he had time. He did all his work so he would have time to play sports with his family. J.F.K. would read to his children every night. He really loved his family. Another way that J.F.K. was caring was by giving speeches to help people that are different colors be together. He worked with Martin Luther King Jr to Make the Civil Rights Bill that gave everyone equal rights. J.F.K. also cared for his crew members when in the Navy. He saved their lives when their boat got destroyed.

I am proud that J.F.K. was caring because he made people happy and it makes me happy that someone so important cared about everyone. I want to make people happy and show how much I care about others.
