What J.F.K. means to me.

by William McCormick

John Fitzgerald Kennedy was the thirty-fifth president. He was the youngest and first Catholic president. I think J.F.K. was very determined because even if he was in a tight spot he would still fight to the end. I think this is one of the ways he was an amazing president

Some of the ways he was determined was when J.F.K was little, Joe challenged J.F.K. to a bike race but this race was no ordinary race, they rode in one big circle. Joe went one way J.F.K. went the other way. When they met the first one to swerve would lose. J.F.K. was determined to win. Joe wasn't scared He thought that J.F.K. would swerve, so when they met they crashed into each other. J.F.K. had to get to the hospital immediatly. J.F.K. had to get twenty eight stitches.

Another way he was determined was when Russia planted missles in Cuba which could hit Florida any second. J.F.K.

was determined he would protect our country. So he didn't give up, he sent one hundred and eighty ships to surround Cuba. Soon the Russians came and they couldn't get through. So the Russians turned around and left.

I think determined is one of the best words that describes J. F. K. When I grow up I want to be more like him, my favorite president Jhon Fitzgerald Kennedy.
