COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Oakland Plantation is an agricultural complex located south of Natchitoches, Louisiana on Cane River Lake, an oxbow lake of the Red River system. The Prud'homme family's nearly 200-year history as the owners of Oakland Plantation began with Jean Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme (1762-1845), the son of Jean Baptiste Prud'homme (1735-1786), a physician and planter, and the grandson of Jean Pierre Philippe Prud'homme (circa 1673-1739), a merchant and trader who emigrated from France as a soldier in the French military and who had settled in the newly-established post of Natchitoches, Louisiana on the Red River by 1726.

Jean Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme married Marie Catherine Lambre (1763-1848) in 1782. Around 1792, he purchased land that straddled the Red River, thirteen miles south of Natchitoches, which would eventually become Oakland Plantation. By 1795, Jean Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme owned thirty-eight slaves, who helped him farm indigo and tobacco crops. After Eli Whitney's cotton gin revolutionized Southern agriculture, Jean Pierre Emanuel introduced cotton to the region in 1797, becoming the first planter to grow cotton on a large scale west of the Mississippi River in the Louisiana Purchase Territory.

The plantation system was common in the South until the mid-twentieth century, and was a significant element of American agricultural production. The system revolved around a cash crop, primarily cotton, grown on a large scale for profit. The most successful plantations required large units of fertile land, abundant, and cheap labor, on-site preliminary processing techniques, and methods of transport to and from a network of factors and factoring houses to market cash crops. All of these were present in Louisiana during the antebellum period. In the typical system for processing the cotton crop for market, cotton was hand-picked and ginned on the plantation and then compressed into four or five hundred pound bales for ease of transport.

As a prominent member of the Natchitoches community, Jean Pierre Emanuel witnessed Louisiana's admission to the Union in 1812, and was a representative at the Louisiana constitutional convention in New Orleans in 1812. Jean Pierre Emanuel expanded the plantation in the early nineteenth century, and by 1820 he owned seventy-four slaves. In 1818, he began building a plantation house, and in 1821, the family moved in. The house and plantation would be called "Bermuda" until 1870 when the plantation was partitioned by the family. The house and land on the west bank of the Red River thereafter became known as "Oakland."

By 1830, the estate had ninety-six slaves, and Jean Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme's youngest son Pierre Phanor (1807-1865) began assuming the responsibilities of running Bermuda Plantation. In 1835, Pierre Phanor married Susanne Lise Metoyer (1818-1852). Pierre Phanor and Susanne Lise had five children: Catherine Adeline (1836-1878), who married Winter Wood Breazeale in 1856; Jacques Alphonse (1838-1919), who married Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" LeComte in 1864; Marie Emma (1839-1854), who died unmarried; Marie Therese Henriette "Harriet" (1842-1922), who married Dr. Blount Baker Breazeale, Jr. in 1865; and Pierre Emanuel (1844-1934), who married Marie Julie Buard (1845-1933) in 1866. After Susanne Lise died in 1852, Pierre Phanor married her sister, Marianne Cephalide Metoyer Archinard (1817-1857), who had two daughters by her first marriage: Irene Archinard Buard and Louise Desiree Archinard Locoul (1836-1911).

An 1862 assessment of Bermuda Plantation showed that Pierre Phanor Prud'homme's property included 900 acres in cultivation, 1200 woodland acres, 100 acres directly fronting the Red River, 1000 acres of pine woods, a lot and townhouse in Natchitoches, and one hundred forty-six slaves. The Civil War broke out in April 1861, and Pierre Phanor's sons, Jacques Alphonse and Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme, had both enlisted in the Confederate army by May 1861. Both sons survived the war, and although Bermuda Plantation's cotton gin and press were burned during the Federal campaign up the Red River in the Spring of 1864, the Main House, many outbuildings, supplies, and livestock escaped virtually unscathed.

The plantation system underwent changes after the Civil War, with the use of sharecroppers and tenant labor instead of enslaved workers. In this modified form, the plantation system continued to dominate Southern agriculture from the Reconstruction period until the early twentieth century, when the invasion of the boll weevil, the departure of laborers for urban jobs, and the mechanization of agriculture led to its decline.

With Pierre Phanor Prud'homme's death in 1865, his sons Jacques Alphonse and Pierre Emanuel took over Bermuda Plantation. By 1866, a new gin and press were under construction. In 1870, Jacques Alphonse and Pierre Emanuel divided the plantation into two parts, with Jacques Alphonse taking 893 acres of the west bank property, which he rechristened "Oakland," and Pierre Emanuel taking 837 acres of the east bank, which he named "Atahoe."

Jacques Alphonse Prud'homme (1838-1919) married Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" LeComte (1840-1923) in September 1864, and they had eight children: Pierre Phanor (1865-1948), who married Marie Laure Cloutier in 1891; Jules LeComte (1867-1916), who died unmarried; Edward Carrington (1869-1941), who married Emma Laura Buard Prud'homme in 1894; Marie Cora (1871-1952), who married Edward G. Lawton in 1894; Marie Atala "Lallah" (1875-1958), who married Samuel Hyams Hill in 1898; Julia Eleanore (1878-1933), who died unmarried; Marie Maie (1880-1964), who married Robert A. Hunter in 1903; and Marie Noelle (1883-1978), who married Dr. Leroy Cockfield in 1917.

Like his father and grandfather, Jacques Alphonse Prud'homme was a leader in the Natchitoches community, while also maintaining one of the region's most prosperous cotton plantations. Sometime between 1873 and 1874, Jacques Alphonse established the plantation store, which was similar to a commissary, and served both the public and the plantation's tenants. While one of its functions was to provide supplies for the plantation, it also contributed to the social aspects of the community. The store also housed the new Bermuda post office, which opened in 1877, the same year that Reconstruction formally ended in Louisiana. By 1885, all three of the Prud'hommes' sons, Pierre Phanor, Edward Carrington, and Jules LeComte, were enrolled in secondary and post-secondary programs at the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana, while their eldest daughter, Marie Cora, was attending the primary and secondary school, St. Mary's Academy, in Natchitoches, Louisiana. Marie Maie and Julia Eleanore were educated at the primary and secondary school, St. Vincent's Academy, in Shreveport, Louisiana, and both graduated in 1895.

Jacques Alphonse proved to be a highly successful cotton planter, and by the turn of the century, Oakland Plantation consisted of about 1200 acres. Although the invasion of the boll weevil reached Louisiana about 1903, devastating the cotton industry for several years, the Prud'hommes were better prepared than most, as they had stayed abreast of the latest advances in agriculture and were able to minimize their losses. In 1904, Jacques Alphonse exhibited his cotton at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at the World's Fair in St. Louis, where he won a gold medal for growing the highest grade of cotton in the South. By the 1910s, Jacques Alphonse Prud'homme was passing the responsibility for the operation of Oakland to his oldest son, Pierre Phanor, who would take full control after Jacques Alphonse's death in 1919.

Pierre Phanor Prud'homme (1865-1948) graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1888, and married Marie Laure Cloutier (1871-1941) in 1891. Phanor and Laure had nine children, six of whom lived to adulthood: James Alphonse "Phonsie," Sr. (1896-1991), who married Rosalie Lucile Keator in 1924, and had four children, detailed below; Louise Vivian (1899-1905); Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" (1900-1953), who married Wilbur Guy Cloutier, Sr. (1899-1981) in 1925, and had seven children; Marie Adele "Dellie" (1903-1974), who married Jesse Emmett Brett in 1932, and had one child: Doris Ann Brett Vincent (born 1936); Marie Leonore (April-May 1905); Pierre Phanor (born and died February 1908); Pierre Phanor "Pete" (1909-1979), who died unmarried; Marie Lucie (1911-1976), who died unmarried; and Louis Donald (1913-1993), who died unmarried.

Although he lived at nearby Atahoe Plantation, Phanor's younger brother, Edward Carrington, and his family are represented in the Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers. Edward Carrington graduated from the University of Notre Dame in 1891, and married his cousin Emma Laura Buard Prud'homme, the daughter of Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme and Marie Julie Buard Prud'homme, in 1894. Edward Carrington and Emma Laura had four children: Emma Lise, Francis Reginald (born 1898), Marie Eoline, and Mary Myrtle. Francis Reginald Prud'homme married Louise Desiree "Daisy" Cloutier (born 1897) in 1921. Louise Desiree "Daisy" was the daughter of Francois Alexis Cloutier, Sr. (1860-1941) and Marie Celine Buard (1865-1918), who were married in 1885. In addition to Louise Desiree "Daisy," Francis Alexis, Sr. and Marie Celine had five children: Louis Leo (born 1888), Phillip (born 1890), Francois Alexis, Jr. (1893), Marguerite Irene (born 1895), and Wilbur Guy, Sr. (born 1898). Wilbur Guy, Sr. married Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" Prud'homme in 1925, and had seven children, detailed above. Francis Reginald and Louise Desiree "Daisy" had two children: Daisy Marguerite Prud'homme (born 1930) and Kathleen Prud'homme Batten.

During Pierre Phanor's tenure as patriarch of Oakland, cotton and the general store were the chief operations. Pierre Phanor retired and sold the family business to his son James Alphonse "Phonsie" Prud'homme, Sr. (1896-1991), in 1942. James Alphonse, Sr. married Rosalie Lucile "Lulu" Keator Prud'homme (1906-1994) in 1924. Rosalie Lucile was born in Webster Groves, Missouri, the only child of Mayo Sands Keator (1869-1955), a civil engineer and inventor who spent many years working for the railroad, and his wife, Mable Blake Keator (1876-1955). Although Rosalie Lucile grew up in Missouri, she had many Keator relatives living in Bermuda, Louisiana, including her grandfather, Dr. James Elias Keator, and her uncle, Dr. James Tanner Keator. As a child, she frequently visited her relatives on Cane River, and around 1918, Rosalie Lucile began boarding as a 7th grader at St. Mary's Academy in Natchitoches where she remained until her graduation in 1924. While at St. Mary's, she became close friends with Marie Adele "Dellie" Prud'homme Brett, the sister of James Alphonse, Sr. When James Alphonse returned to the plantation from France in 1919 following the end of World War I, he met and began courting Rosalie Lucile.

James Alphonse, Sr. and Rosalie Lucile had four children: James Alphonse, Jr. (1927-1988), Kenneth Andrew (born 1929), Mayo Keator (born 1932), and Rose Vivian (born 1934). James Alphonse, Jr. married Martha Jane Allen in 1951, and they had five children: Sandra Lynn Prud'homme Haynie, Kathy Jane Prud'homme Guin, Renee Elise Prud'homme Quiros, and Michael Allen Prud'homme. Kenneth Andrew married Sally Ann Calhoun in 1958, and they had three children: Catherine Adeline "Cappy" Prud'homme, Anne Lucille Prud'homme Aviles, and Kenneth Andrew "Drew" Prud'homme. Mayo Keator married Annette Berry in 1963, and they had two children: Julie Michelle Prud'homme Demartinos and Mayo "Tad" Keator Prud'homme, Jr. Rose Vivian married Eugene Joseph Flores, Sr. in 1960, and they had three children: Andrea Minette Flores Winder, Eugene Joseph Flores, Jr., and Denise Annette Flores Poleman. Following Eugene Flores' death, Rose Vivian remarried Ted Edward Duggan in 1999.

Cotton prices fell dramatically in the financial difficulties of the 1920s and 1930s, and the Prud'hommes turned to alternative revenue sources to supplement their cotton crop. In particular, they focused on the Oakland Plantation Store; raising sheep, goats, and cattle; and renting boats and cabins to fishermen on Cane River. Cotton prices finally increased during World War II, and during this period, a sixth generation of Prud'hommes took over operation of Oakland Plantation. Following James Alphonse, Jr.'s graduation from Northwestern State University in 1949, he entered the cotton business as a cotton buyer in Texas, but returned to Oakland to farm in the mid-1950s. His brother, Kenneth Andrew, later joined James Alphonse, Jr. as they continued the family tradition of farming Oakland Plantation. They oversaw the demise of the old cotton growing plantation system as they replaced tenant labor with modern tractors and, ultimately, mechanical cotton pickers. The last of the Prud'hommes' tenant farmers moved away from Oakland in 1959. With modern equipment and techniques, rural populations declined and institutions like the country store and rural post office closed in the 1950s and 1960s. The Bermuda Post Office at the Oakland Plantation Store closed in 1967.

By the early 1980s, James Alphonse, Sr.'s health was failing, and in 1982, he closed the Oakland Plantation Store. Meanwhile, his sons were facing an uncertain future as escalating production costs and competition by corporate agriculture threatened the viability of family farms across the country. In 1984, James Alphonse, Jr. and Kenneth Andrew Prud'homme decided to stop farming, auctioned off their farm equipment, leased their land holdings, and retired. James Alphonse, Jr. died in 1988, shortly after Oakland was designated a National Bicentennial Farm in recognition of two centuries of operation as a family farm. In October 1991, James Alphonse, Sr. died.

Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme was an active advocate for Prud'homme and Oakland Plantation history. Her family research interest dates to the 1920s, when she joined as a charter member of the St. Denis chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Rosalie Lucile was a founder of the Natchitoches chapter of the National Society of Colonial Dames of the XVII Century and was active in these and several other genealogical societies until the 1980s. Her concern for the preservation of Oakland's history began in 1940, when she created a museum of the plantation's artifacts in the ground-level floor of the raised Creole cottage, and later opened Oakland for tours. She also advocated for formal recognition of Oakland's history, and in 1979, Oakland Plantation was listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Rosalie Lucile died in 1994.

After Rosalie Lucile's death, Rose Vivian's daughter, Denise Annette Flores Poleman, and her family moved in, and became the seventh and eighth generations of Prud'hommes to occupy the Main House at Oakland Plantation. The Prud'homme family began negotiations with the National Park Service to sell the plantation in 1994 when Congress passed Public Law 103-499 creating Cane River Creole National Historical Park and the Cane River National Heritage Area. In 1997, the Prud'hommes and the National Park Service reached an agreement, and the Prud'homme family sold the core of Oakland Plantation, including the Main House and many of its furnishings, the remaining outbuildings, and the land they stood on, to the National Park Service. As of 2013, the National Park Service owns and operates these structures as the Oakland Plantation Unit of the Cane River Creole National Historical Park. In recognition of its national significance in the areas of architecture and agriculture, Oakland Plantation was designated as a National Historic Landmark in 2000.

In addition to the main Oakland Plantation branch of the Prud'homme family, several other branches of the family are also reflected in the Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers. Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme collected materials relating to three families in her paternal lineage: the Prud'hommes (distant cousins of the Oakland Prud'hommes), the Keators, and the Breazeales.

Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme's father, Mayo Sands Keator (1869-1955), was the second-eldest child of Dr. James Elias Keator (1822-1908) and Rose Meullion Tanner (1840-1903). In addition to Mayo Sands, James Elias and Rose Meullion had five children: James Tanner (1866-1934), Jerman Parker (May-September 1873), Mary "Mae" (1875-1957), Charles Denison (1879-1950), and Kate Agnes "Kitten" (1881-1955). James Tanner married Lelia Laurencia Prud'homme (1874-1955) in 1902, and they had three children: Meda Keator Shrum (1903-1990), Rose Keator Reeves (1904-2001), and James Tanner, Jr. (born 1912). Mayo Sands married Mable Blake (1876-1955), and Rosalie Lucile was their only child. Mayo Sands and Mable moved to Louisiana after World War II, where they lived in the Oakland Plantation Main House with their daughter Rosalie Lucile. Mable's sister Mary C. Blake married John Tremble, and they had two children, Lucile's first cousins: Ruth Tremble (1916-2002), who married F. Anthony Prud'homme (born 1903); and Ledley (1908-1958). Mary married Elisha Winter Breazeale (1869-1931) in 1897, and they had no children. Following Elisha's death, Mary and her sister, Kate Agnes, lived together and ran a drug store in Campti, Louisiana. Charles Denison married Rena McKnight (1883-1970), and they had two children: Josie Agnes (1913-1916), and Randall Denison (1917-1981).

The families of two individuals who married into the Keator family, Lelia Laurencia Prud'homme Keator and Elisha Winter Breazeale, are also represented in the Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers. Elisha Winter Breazeale was the son of Dr. Blount Baker Breazeale, Jr. (1865-1936) and Henriette "Harriet" Prud'homme Breazeale (1842-1922). Henriette "Harriet" was the daughter of Pierre Phanor Prud'homme (1807-1865) and Susanne Lise Metoyer (1818-1852). In addition to Elisha Winter, Blount Baker, Jr. and Henriette "Harriet" had four children: Blount Baker, III (1865-1936), Walter Overton (1872-1924); James Wilmer (1867-1937), who married Laiza Lambre (1873-1959); and Emma (1876-1963), who married Francis Ursin Lambre (1877-1923), and had three children: Retta Cloutier (1906-1996), Alton (born 1909), and Jules Murray (born 1912). Both Emma Breazeale and James Wilmer Breazeale married children of Jules Valsin Lambre, Sr. (1840-1877) and Susan Odalie Prud'homme (died 1912), who also had four other children: Victor Octave (1867-1900), who married Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme's sister Marie Coralie Cloutier (1869-1944) and had one child, Marie Elma Lambre Gueno; Jules Valsin, Jr. (1861-1927), who died childless; Toussant Lafon (1875-1924), who died childless; and Marie Angella (1871-1927), who died childless.

Lelia Laurencia Prud'homme Keator was the daughter of Felicien Antoine Prud'homme (1833-1878), who was the son of Pierre Phanor Prud'homme first cousin Lestan Prud'homme (1801-1876) and Frances "Fanny" Bossier Prud'homme (1839-1930). In addition to Lelia Laurencia, Felicien Antoine and Frances "Fanny" had five children: Paul (1867-1920), who died unmarried; Ella (1861-1938), who died unmarried; P. Placide (1868-1950); Pierre Lestan (1871-1946), who married Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme's sister Marie Lucille Cloutier (1876-1903); and Nina (1869-1884), who died unmarried. Pierre Lestan and Marie Lucille had two children: Louis Cyril (born 1900), who married Ethel Bertha Knapp, and F. Anthony (born 1903), who married Ruth Tremble (1916-2002).

CARI 0003: Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers
1809-1993, undated (bulk dates: 1890-1982)

CATALOG NUMBER            CARI 35005

VOLUME                        71 LF

DESCRIPTION

The Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers are the personal records of the Prud'homme family and the operational records of Oakland Plantation, located in Natchitoches Parish, Louisiana. All records were created by the family prior to the sale of the plantation to the National Park Service, and its incorporation into the Cane River Creole National Historical Park. Records span from 1809 to 1993 with the bulk of the material dating from 1890 to 1982.

Records were created by members of the Prud'homme and Keator families, and reflect plantation life; the personal collecting interests of Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme; and education, military service, and personal interests of Prud'homme family members. Though the collection includes records of many Prud'homme family members across generations, records primarily pertain to Oakland Plantation patriarch, James Alphonse Prud'homme, Sr., and his wife, Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme, as well as their sons, James Alphonse Prud'homme, Jr. and Kenneth Andrew Prud'homme, who operated Oakland Plantation as "Prud'homme Brothers." In addition to personal collecting interests, Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme also collected records of her parents, family, and ancestors (the Keator and Breazeale families).

Personal papers and records pertaining to Prud'homme family members include correspondence, school papers and books, checks, statements, bank forms, tax documents, insurance policies, contracts, military service papers, booklets, pamphlets, newsletters, genealogical bulletins, medical papers, patents, religious ephemera, postcards, travel ephemera, sheet music, maps, newspapers and newspaper clippings, photographic materials, scrapbooks, diaries, periodicals, journals, and other miscellaneous papers.

The collection also includes records that document the agribusiness operations of Oakland Plantation, as well as the operation of a United States Post Office at the Oakland Plantation Store. These records primarily include invoices and receipts which reflect the unique local economy created from the operation of the Oakland Plantation Store, in which laborers earned credit for goods and services purchased and provided by the Prud'homme family. Also includes ledgers, manuals, catalogs, product promotional materials, periodicals, gin tickets, agricultural bulletins, advertisements, posters, postal cash books, postal service forms, handbooks, newsletters, memoranda, and other ephemera.

ORGANIZATION

[Organization]Organized into four subgroups: Subgroup 1: Papers Originally Recovered from the Oakland Plantation Main House; Subgroup 2: Prud'homme Family Agribusiness Records; Subgroup 3: Daisy Marguerite Prud'homme and Kathleen Prud'homme Batten Collection; Subgroup 4: Myrtle Powell Collection. [Arrangement]

PROVENANCE

The Oakland Plantation Records and Prud'homme Family Papers is comprised primarily of four accessions: CARI-00006; CARI-00021; CARI-00023; CARI-00035. CARI-00006 includes materials appraised in the Oakland Main House and Oakland Plantation Store in 1996, and purchased by the National Park Service in 1998. In 1999, CARI initiated the field collection process of these materials, which was completed in 2004. CARI-00021 consists of the remainder of materials from Oakland Plantation Store collected by National Park Service staff after 2001. CARI-00023 consists of materials that were transferred or otherwise deaccessioned from the "Prudhomme Family Papers" collection in the Southern Historical Collection at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. CARI-00035 includes additional, primarily published and ephemeral materials recovered from the Oakland Main House attic.

One diary (CARI-00060), acquired in 2004, and a small amount of correspondence and papers (CARI-00070), acquired in 2005, were donations from Doris Ann Brett Vincent.

The collection also contains records from CARI-00147, which includes "The Daisy Prud'homme Collection," and "The John & Kathleen P. Batten Collection." These materials were recovered from the Riverside-Bellview Plantation House in Bermuda, Louisiana in 2010.

Additionally, the collection includes materials from CARI-000149, "The Myrtle Powell Collection," received via donation from a descendant of Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme in 2011.

SERIES DESCRIPTIONS

I. SUBGROUP 1: PAPERS ORIGINALLY RECOVERED FROM THE OAKLAND PLANTATION MAIN HOUSE, 1829-1991, undated

Organized into eight series: Series I: Prud'homme and Keator Family Correspondence; Series II: Prud'homme Family Personal Papers; Series III: Keator Family Papers; Series IV: Ephemera; Series V: Newspapers and Newspaper Clippings; Series VI: Photographic Materials; Series VII: Scrapbook Files; Series VIII: Other Related Materials.

Correspondence, personal papers, ephemera, photographic materials, newspaper clippings, scrapbooks, and other materials created and used by the Prud'homme and Keator families. Papers were originally recovered from the Oakland Plantation Main House, and were primarily collected by Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme. The records document many facets of life, business, interests and relationships of the Prud'homme family at Oakland Plantation, as well as Rosalie Lucile's paternal relatives, including members of the Keator and Breazeale families. Many records reflect traditional plantation life in central and northern Louisiana, particularly in Natchitoches Parish.

A. SERIES I: PRUD'HOMME AND KEATOR FAMILY CORRESPONDENCE, 1876-1991, undated

Letters received by Prud'homme and Keator family members, primarily Pierre Phanor Prud'homme and his wife, Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme; their son, James Alphonse Prud'homme, Sr. and his wife, Rosalie Lucile Keator Prud'homme; and Lucile's cousins, Elisha Winter Breazeale, Mary Keator Breazeale, and Lelia Laurencia Prud'homme Keator. Also includes letters received by many other Keator family members, other Prud'homme family members, as well as unidentified and miscellaneous recipients.

1. SUBSERIES A: LETTERS TO PIERRE PHANOR PRUD'HOMME AND MARIE LAURE CLOUTIER PRUD'HOMME, 1879-1942, undated

Organized into four sub-subseries: Sub-subseries 1: Letters to Pierre Phanor Prud'homme; Sub-subseries 2: Letters to Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme; Sub-subseries 3: Letters to Pierre Phanor Prud'homme and Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme; Sub-subseries 4: Graduation and Wedding Announcements and Invitations.

Letters, invitations, and graduation and wedding announcements and invitations sent to Pierre Phanor Prud'homme and Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme.

a. SUB-SUBSERIES 1: LETTERS TO PIERRE PHANOR PRUD'HOMME, 1879-1942, undated

Arranged chronologically.

Letters to Pierre Phanor "Nurdy" Prud'homme, primarily sent by immediate family members, documenting family news, birthdays, illnesses, and deaths. Also includes several business letters, and scattered letters from other friends and family members.

b. SUB-SUBSERIES 2: LETTERS TO MARIE LAURE CLOUTIER PRUD'HOMME, 1888-1941, undated

Arranged chronologically.

Primarily letters received from Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme's immediate family members and cousins, including letters from her husband, Pierre Phanor Prud'homme during their courtship (1889-1891); her sisters-in-law, Marie Atala "Lallah" Prud'homme Hill and Marie Noelie Prud'homme, primarily while they were attending school at St. Vincent's Academy; her mother-in-law, Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" LeComte Prud'homme; her children, James Alphonse Prud'homme, Sr., Elisa Elizabeth "Lisa" "Lee Lee" Prud'homme Cloutier, Marie Adele "Dellie" Prud'homme Brett, Pierre Phanor "Pete" Prud'homme, Marie Lucie Prud'homme, and Louis Donald Prud'homme; her sisters, Marie Coralie Cloutier Lambre and Marie Emma Cloutier Hyams; her cousins, Albert Cloutier and Lucie Estarge; and other friends and family members, documenting daily activities and events, illnesses, and deaths, among other topics. Laure received many letters while in convalescence at several different hospitals, including stays at Schumpert Sanitarium in Shreveport, Louisiana after unidentified ailments (1917, 1924) and at a hospital in New Orleans, Louisiana after cataract surgery (1930). Laure also received letters while she was staying with her sons, Louis Donald Prud'homme (letters dated 1921) and Pierre Phanor "Pete" Prud'homme (letters dated 1925-1926) at a hospital in New Orleans, Louisiana after their own eye surgeries and other ailments. Additional letters (1926) document Pete's continued recovery at the hospital after Laure had returned home, and her husband, Phanor, and daughter, Marie Adele Prud'homme Brett, had replaced her in nursing Pete.

c. SUB-SUBSERIES 3: LETTERS TO PIERRE PHANOR PRUD'HOMME AND MARIE LAURE CLOUTIER PRUD'HOMME, 1895-1937, undated

Of particular note is a grouping of French language books, which seem to have been rebound and/or reorganized by Pierre Phanor Prud'homme, and pertain to science, mathematics, and construction. Also includes children's books, books related to personal interests, a dictionary, atlases, a French language spelling book, and a first edition of Henry Fielding's "The History of Tom Jones, A Foundling."

2. SUBSERIES B: DIARIES, 1886-1974

Arranged alphabetically by personal name of creator, and thereunder chronologically.

Two diaries (1932-1937) kept by Marie Adele "Dellie" Prud'homme Brett, with typed transcriptions. The first diary's entries begin with Adele's wedding day in 1932, and document her early marriage. Topics include daily activities, Adele's employment as a teacher, visits with family, and milestones including holidays, illnesses, birthdays, and deaths. One 1933 entry mentions moving into the Oakland Plantation Doctor's Cottage. The diary concludes in October 1936 with the birth of Adele's daughter Doris Ann Brett Vincent, and the stillbirth of Doris Ann's twin brother. The second diary begins in January 1937 and concludes in April 1937, and contains daily entries documenting Doris Ann's early infancy, Adele's recovery from a difficult cesarean section delivery, and grief over the loss of her infant son. Daily entries also document visits from family and friends and Prud'homme and Brett family events including births, marriages, deaths, and other milestones. The diary also contains a list of addresses of relatives and friends.

One composition book (1886-1889) kept by Lelia Laurencia Prud'homme Keator while a student, containing poetry, letters written to friends, and compositions. Topics include daily life, visitors, illnesses and deaths, school vacations, friendships and relationships, school compositions, and local events including dances, parties, and baseball games.

One diary (1887-1974) kept by Marie Laure Cloutier Prud'homme, with typed transcription. Entries written by Laure cover the time period from 1891 to 1927, but are not in order throughout the diary. Many entries relate to parenting and children, including lists of baby names, trousseaus, and detailed entries documenting the births, christenings, and developmental milestones such as crawling, talking, teething, illnesses, first communions, and first days of school of her children James Alphonse (born December 28, 1896), Louise Vivian Prud'homme (born February 9, 1899), Elisa Elizabeth (born December 12, 1900), Marie Adele (born March 3, 1903), Marie Leonore (born April 16, 1905), Pierre Phanor (born February 16, 1908), Pierre Phanor (born January 26, 1909), Marie Lucie (born May 25, 1911), and Louis Donald (born August 30, 1913). Entries also document the deaths of several of her children, including Louise Vivian (died March 29, 1905), Marie Leonore (died May 27, 1905), and Pierre Phanor (died February 26, 1908). Related enclosures include a lock of Louis Donald's hair, dated 1914; a poem entitled "On the Death of an Infant," and a prayer entitled "A Daily Prayer for a Pregnant Woman." Other entry topics include travel to Opelousas, New Orleans, Spanish Lake, and other locations in Louisiana; Laure's relationship with her future husband, Pierre Phanor Prud'homme, including their meeting on February 11, 1888, and marriage on February 3, 1891; general domestic topics, including lists of clothing sizes, crochet patterns, expenses lists and calculations, lists of seeds planted, a narrative about moving into a new home in 1897, recipes, clippings, song lyrics, poems, and lists of the anniversaries and birthdays of friends and relatives. The diary contains Pierre Phanor Prud'homme's 1887 signature, and several entries were added by others following Laure's death, including an entry written in 1942 by Laure's daughter, Marie Adele Prud'homme Brett, documenting Laure's death, and an entry written in 1974 by Adele's daughter, Doris Ann Brett Vincent, documenting Adele's death.

SERIES III: JOURNALS, LEDGERS, AND NOTEBOOKS, 1837-1958, undated

0008. Marie Celine Buard Cloutier, June-October 1882

Journal kept by Marie Celine Buard Cloutier (June-October 1882) documenting life with her mother, Irene Archinard Buard, and sister, Desiree "Dedee" Buard Breazeale, at home in New Orleans, Louisiana, and on a visit to Laura Plantation in Vacherie, Louisiana. Entries describe Celine's daily activities, such as chores and housework, including cooking, sewing, and taking care of her sister Desiree; entertainments, including shopping, attending concerts and opera performances, visits from and to friends and relatives, and reading; and attending church services. Entries also document Celine's preparations for a two-month visit to Laura Plantation, August-October 1882, including packing and travelling to the plantation by boat; as well as her activities at the plantation, including horseback riding, cooking, reading, entertaining visitors, attending parties, and playing games. Entries mention by name many Cloutier, Buard, and Prud'homme relatives.

0009. Daisy Marguerite Prud'homme, undated

0010. Edward Carrington Prud'homme, 1891-1928

Seven journals (1891-1916) and one account ledger (1921-1928). Daily journal entries contain heavy detail about weather conditions, and documentation of agricultural activities including planting, picking, and ginning cotton; planting and harvesting corn, fruit trees, vegetables, hay, sugar cane, and other crops; livestock illnesses and deaths; attempts to eradicate agricultural pests including boll weevils, caterpillars, and birds; copies of agricultural and commodities reports by the Department of Agriculture and local newspapers; meetings of the Southern Cotton Association; and reports from neighboring farms and plantations. Some entries also discuss travel, including the comings and goings of family members to Natchitoches, neighboring plantations, and other locations via train, boat, car, and buggy; political meetings and elections; freight and transportation, including description of efforts to dam Cane River and improve the navigability of the Red River, building bridges over Cane River, names of passing steamboats and their cargos, witnessing a "flying machine" (1910), and road improvement; entertainments, including fairs, parties, church and school events, games, weddings, Confederate Veterans Reunions, and hunting; health, including illnesses and operations; life milestones including births, deaths, and funerals of neighbors, friends, and relatives; the building of St. Charles Chapel in Bermuda, Louisiana; business ventures undertaken by members of the Prud'homme family, including Elisha Winter Breazeale and Charles D. Keator's efforts to drill for oil and gas, and Jacques Alphonse Prud'homme's building of the LeComte Hotel in Natchitoches, Louisiana; records of telephone outages and lapses in mail delivery; and frequent discussion of the work habits and agricultural activities of African American field hands, including yearly entries describing Edward's negative opinion of the June 19th Emancipation holiday, as well as descriptions of events taking place in the local African American community, including church events, society meetings, parades, weddings, school meetings, shootings, illnesses, and deaths. Account book (1921-1928) contains records of cotton ginned and baled by Edward Carrington Prud'homme on behalf of himself and his tenants; documentation of plantation expenses, including purchases of merchandise; debts incurred by tenants through purchases of merchandise, medical expenses, cotton ginning, or cash loans, and the repayment of those debts through cash, labor, goods, or commodities; household expenses; records of income made through boat, tent, and yard rentals; and Bermuda Bridge and road repair accounts.

0011. Jacques Alphonse Prud'homme, 1875-1908

One account book (1875-1879) and two press books (1904-1908). Account book documents Oakland Plantation expenses, including purchases of wholesale merchandise for sale in the plantation store; debts incurred by tenants through purchases of merchandise, medical expenses, or cash loans, and the repayment of those debts through cash, labor, goods, or commodities. Account book is in English, but includes one enclosure in French documenting the 1875 sale of a gallon of whiskey. Press books (1904-1908) document cotton ginning and purchases of seed, bags, ties, and other supplies.

0012. Louise Desiree "Daisy" Cloutier Prud'homme, 1916-1918

Two journals (April 1916-January 1917) and one journal page (July 1918) kept by Louise Desiree "Daisy" Cloutier Prud'homme prior to her marriage to Francis Reginald Prud'homme. Journals contain detailed daily entries documenting daily activities and housework including cooking, baking, cleaning, picking pecans, and sewing; Daisy's courtship with her future husband, Francis Reginald "Toby" Prud'homme; attending church services; visiting with her cousins and other members of the Prud'homme family; entertainments including card parties, performances, and shopping; visits from family and friends; illnesses; trips to Natchitoches, Louisiana; and a list of wedding anniversaries of friends and family members. Also includes one page from a 1918 journal documenting Daisy's mother's death from illness on July 25, 1918.

0013. Pierre Phanor Prud'homme, 1837-1857

French language "Journalier" used by Pierre Phanor Prud'homme to document various accounts ("Billets"), transactions, and enslaved persons at Oakland Plantation. The first portion of the book appears to include payments to individuals for goods and services, while later entries focus on a more general account of plantation transactions. The "Billets" section of the book includes a ledger listing of loans paid out to community members. Between these two sections is a list titled "Noms des negres, Negrenes, etc." showing a comprehensive list of over 130 enslaved persons, including names, ages, and occasionally additional information such as children, birth years, and death years.

0014. Unidentified, 1906-1958

Two account books (1906-1908, 1957-1958) and one piano lessons notebook (1913-1914), created by unidentified authors. The first account book (1906-1908) may belong to Pierre Emanuel Prud'homme or his wife, Marie Julia Buard Prud'homme, and documents expenses including groceries, tools and hardware, cooking, laundry, medical expenses, clothing, and agricultural supplies, among others. The piano lessons notebook (1913-1914) contains notes from piano lessons, including lists of musical exercises and song titles. The second account book (1957-1958) documents agricultural expenses including labor, utilities, feed, seed, tools and machinery, and auto repair.
