

Sandburg in the Classroom

A Professional Development Opportunity

August 12, 2009

Wednesday August 12, 2009

9:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Blue Ridge Community College
McIntosh Conference Hall
180 West Campus Drive, Flat Rock, NC

Deadline to Apply: June 26, 2009

Certificate for 5 contact hours /0.5 CEUs

Special Guest Speaker: North Carolina Poet,
Glennis Redmond will present her techniques for sharing poetry in the Classroom.

Tuition & Lunch: Free. Participants will also receive a free pass to tour the Carl Sandburg
Home on a day of their choice.

Create an exciting and innovative learning experience for your students by incorporating Carl Sandburg into your classroom studies. Whether you are teaching Social Studies, Language Arts or History, the Carl Sandburg Home National Historic Site can provide you with a wide variety of teaching and learning opportunities. From hands-on classroom activities, online learning resources and in-park field trips, this workshop will give you the tools you need to teach your students about one of the most famous American writers of our time, all while making learning exciting and valuable for your students.

Application

Applications will be accepted until June 26, 2009; participants will be selected by July 3, 2009; Please note, acceptance into this program is an obligation of 5 hours of your time. Certificates for contact hours/CEU's will be available to those who complete the the full 5 contact hours. Please mail or fax this sheet to: Sabrina Diaz, Carl Sandburg Home NHS, 81 Carl Sandburg Lane, Flat Rock, NC 28731, 828-693-4178 phone, 828-693-4179 fax.

Name:
Address
Phone:	Email:
Years of Teaching:	Grade Level:	Subject Area:
County and School:

I would like to attend this workshop and learn new and innovative ways to incorporate Carl Sandburg into my classroom. I can commit to the date and time mentioned above.

signature

date