

Community Meeting: DC Neighborhoods and Your Local National Parks —A Natural Fit!

Nowhere else in the country are national parks and a city's many neighborhoods as closely bound together.

Meet the park superintendents of your six local national parks; share and discuss your thoughts and ideas about the national parks within your DC neighborhood; and engage in a dialogue on how the NPS can continue to provide and add positive quality of life experiences in or near your community!

Where: Columbia Heights Education Campus,
3101 16th Street NW (at Irving Street)

When: May 21, 2013; 6:30 pm until 8:30 pm

National Park Service Superintendents participating in the neighborhood meeting:

Chesapeake and Ohio National Historical Park — Kevin Brandt

George Washington Memorial Parkway — Alex Romero

National Capital Parks-East — Gopaul Noojibail

National Mall and Memorial Parks — Bob Vogel

President's Park — John Stanwich

Rock Creek Park — Tara Morrison

Street parking in the area is limited; however there are several commercial parking lots nearby. Attendees are encouraged to use public transportation; DC Circulator, Metro bus, and Metro rail (Columbia Heights Station) are all within one block.

If you have questions regarding the meeting, or any special needs, please call: 202-619-7187. To learn more about national parks in the Greater Washington area visit www.nps.gov/dc
