

Denali National Park and Preserve

Mission Statement

The National Park Service is dedicated to conserving unimpaired the natural and cultural resources, as well as the aesthetic and wilderness values of Denali National Park and Preserve, for the benefit, use, education, and inspiration of present and future generations. The Service is also responsible for sustaining a subsistence and frontier lifestyle, and a setting conducive to scientific investigation, provided they can be accommodated within the constraints of the mission at large.