

Job Opportunity: Glacier Bay National Park Student Hire

Have you ever wanted to work in Alaska, wear a National Park Service uniform, and listen to the roar of a calving glacier while teaching children about the great outdoors? Help youth make lasting connections to a national treasure!

Glacier Bay National Park is looking for a college student who is interested in working for the National Park Service. If selected, you will assist Education rangers in creating and presenting summer programs for school age children, board cruise ships to provide children programs, and develop interactive projects to connect children to the resources found at Glacier Bay National Park.

To qualify for the Student Hire position, you must be actively enrolled in a college program. We are looking for an enthusiastic and qualified college student interested in sharing the beauty of Glacier Bay with school age children. Learn, work, and grow in an amazing national park. Be a part of the adventure!

Applications are due by February 18, 2011.
