

Basic Emergency Evacuation Procedures

Revised June 2010

Why Evacuate?

An evacuation of Grand Canyon National Park might be necessary in the following situations:

- A wildland fire is threatening the developed or residential areas
- An eminent or occurring hazardous materials incident in a populated area
- A natural disaster
- The safety of people in the park is threatened in any way

Evacuation Notification

The signal for all residents to evacuate will be a continuous sounding of the fire siren for five minutes or longer. This signal may be repeated. The prolonged siren activation may be used in conjunction with broadcast radio announcements, through the Emergency Alert System (EAS). EAS announcements can be heard on several local radio stations including

- KAFF 930 AM and 92.9 FM.
- KNAU 90.3 FM (GRAND CANYON) & 88.7 FM (FLAGSTAFF)

- ▶ READY! COCONINO is an emergency notification system operated by Coconino County. The system uses E-911 databases and GIS information to broadcast emergency notifications by telephone. Due to limitations in local phone databases, Grand Canyon residents are strongly encouraged to self register their home phone and cell phone through www.readycoconino.az.gov.
- ▶ Other notification might include emergency vehicle public address systems or door-to-door contact.
- ▶ INCIDENT INFORMATION CENTER- During a large-scale emergency, the park Incident Information Center will be activated. Please contact the Incident Information Center recorded information line at (928) 638-7688.

Partial Area Evacuations

Local emergency conditions may require the immediate need for a Partial or Neighborhood Evacuation. Park emergency personnel will contact residents directly. Please follow their instructions. If activated, the Incident Information Center at (928) 638-7922. may be contacted for information and updates.

Evacuation Routes

In the event of an evacuation, all evacuation routes will be marked with signs and/or personnel assigned to direct traffic. It is critical that you follow the designated evacuation routes and any instructions provided by emergency or law enforcement personnel.

Evacuation Collection Centers

For the South Rim Evacuation Collection Centers will be established in Williams and/or Flagstaff by the American Red Cross in conjunction with Coconino County Emergency Services. These Centers will be used for registration, information and assistance. Locations are not pre-established and therefore would be announced during the evacuation process.

Inner Canyon Collection Centers include Indian Gardens and Phantom Ranch. North Rim Collection Center may include the Fredonia School or another site established by the American Red Cross.

Registration and accountability

You are not required to stay at an Evacuation Collection Center. However, it is imperative that you register there so your location is available to local officials and relatives. Every family should establish and practice evacuation plans for times when members may be separated. A relative or friend should be established as an emergency contact where all family members would call to exchange information and reconnect.

SAFETY ZONES—a Safety Zone is a large open area to use if you cannot safely evacuate the park

During an evacuation, where leaving the park is not possible, remaining evacuees would be directed to these Safety Zones:

- SOUTH RIM- Grand Canyon Visitor Center Parking Area
- DESERT VIEW- Watchtower Parking Area
- NORTH RIM- North Kaibab Trail Head Parking Area, Demotte & Little Park areas, Cape Royal Parking Area, W-1 Road (The Basin), North Kaibab Trail below the Supai Tunnel
- INNER CANYON- Indian Gardens and Phantom Ranch (assuming no threat to the Inner Canyon area)
