Body recovered from below the South Rim of Grand Canyon National Park has been identified

Grand Canyon, Ariz. – The body of a man located approximately 300 feet below the rim of Grand Canyon National Park has been identified as that of 29-year-old Eric Stanley, a Grand Canyon resident. Eric's body was located on Friday, April 4, below the rim at Trail View Overlook on West Rim Drive on Grand Canyon's South Rim.

Forensic scientists from the Arizona Department of Public Safety made positive identification of the body earlier today.

Eric had been reported missing on March 14 and was entered into Arizona and National law enforcement networks. Park rangers had searched areas in the Grand Canyon and adjacent community of Tusayan following the report that he was missing.

An investigation is being conducted by the National Park Service.
