

After Dark in the Park

National Park Service
U.S. Department of the Interior

Hawai'i Volcanoes National Park
Hawai'i

Loulu: Hawaii's Ancient Native Palms

Tuesday March 27th at 7:00 pm
Kīlauea Visitor Center Auditorium

In ancient times, palm forests covered large areas of the Hawaiian Islands. On the coastal plains and the dry leeward slopes, native fan palms once dominated the landscape. In the rain forests, massive palms emerged high above the surrounding canopy, rivaling mighty koa for the title of Hawaii's tallest native tree. Unfortunately, these unique Hawaiian palms are virtually unknown to most island residents today. Join Park Ranger John Stallman on a journey of discovery as he discusses the natural history and conservation of Hawaii's incredible suite of native palms, Loulu. Learn how to appreciate what it really means to be "native" as we examine the heritage of Hawaii's ancient palms.

Program co-sponsored by Hawai'i Pacific Parks Association. For information, call (808) 985-6011.

Your $2.00 donation helps to support Park programs. Park Entrance Fees Apply.