

Activity: Trade and Barter

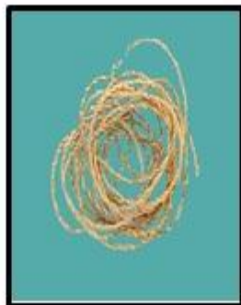

When settlers moved into new frontiers, or areas of land, they had to rely on their neighbors to help each other out, in order to survive and succeed. This type of exchange was known as trade and barter. Trade is the action of buying and selling goods and services. Barter, on the other hand, is the exchange (goods or services) for other goods or services without using money.

For this activity, you must complete the scenario provided. To do this, you must trade and barter with the other people in your group to get all of the items you need to complete your task. To successfully complete the activity, you will need to make an exchange with everyone in your group and everyone in the group must complete their scenario.
