Cultural Landscape Walking Tour

When: March 14, 2009

Time: 10:00 a.m.

Where: William Floyd Estate

What's a cultural landscape all about?

On this Estate it's about how the Floyd family manipulated, changed, and adapted their land for their multiple uses. It's the history of how the land changed through human use. It went from plantation and working farm to a summer estate and hunting preserve. There is all evidence of past use and on this walking tour we will look for that evidence.
