

Tourism to Roger Williams National Memorial creates $2.8 million in Economic Benefit Report shows visitor spending supports 36 jobs in local economy

PROVIDENCE, RI— A new National Park Service (NPS) report shows that 51,944 visitors to Roger Williams National Memorial in 2012 spent $2.8 million in communities near the park. That spending supported 36 jobs in the local area.

“Roger Williams National Memorial is proud to welcome visitors from across the country and around the world,” said Site Manager Jennifer Smith “We are delighted to share the story of this place and the experiences it provides and to use the park as a way to introduce our visitors to this part of the country and all that it offers. National park tourism is a significant driver in the national economy - returning $10 for every $1 invested in the National Park Service - and it’s a big factor in our local economy as well. We appreciate the partnership and support of our neighbors and are glad to be able to give back by helping to sustain local communities.”

The peer-reviewed visitor spending analysis was conducted by U.S. Geological Survey economists Catherine Cullinane Thomas and Christopher Huber and Lynne Koontz for the National Park Service. The report shows $14.7 billion of direct spending by 283 million park visitors in communities within 60 miles of a national park. This spending supported 243,000 jobs nationally, with 201,000 jobs found in these gateway communities, and had a cumulative benefit to the U.S. economy of $26.75 billion. According to the report most visitor spending supports jobs in restaurants, grocery and convenience stores (39 percent), hotels, motels and B&Bs (27 percent), and other amusement and recreation (20 percent).
