

Our brigade ...
captured but ...

The snow road to ...
are impassible.
Rained all day

Turned around today and retraced our way ...
and marched over to ...
on the right wing.

7th Penn. Cav. had a fight today with the rebs - lost about 40 including 2 Majors.
Rained all day.

Heavy skirmishing all day - drove the enemy before us and took our place on the extreme right.

Genl. Johnson is base - He has placed us here in front and parked our artillery - not a single gun in position.

About daylight the enemy moved on our extreme right in Mass and not having a single gun in position - they had it all their own way. After a short resistance and after standing a cross-fire our whole division broke and then became almost a panic - every man trying to get to the Murfreesboro pike.

The centre and left held their ground but we lost all of ours. The rebel cavalry came in our rear and killed and captured most all of our men. They followed us to the Pike and captured the balance of our boys and also the colors.
But the 4th Reg. Cav. and the 4th D.V. Cav. dashed in and run the rebs releasing us and recovering our colors which they have won.

Our regiment numbered but 120 men and our company (H) 12.

The 49th is a little larger and has 32 D.V. is about the size of both all of our men are killed, wounded or captured. Supt. Sand is killed and John Fisher and Widmer.

White Kettle, Geo. Kettle, Duncan Lorse, Geo. Kettle are all shot - and on the rebels hands - but whether they are mortally wounded or not - I do not know - and I do not know how many more are killed or wounded.

2<sup>o</sup> Lieut. Neal of Co. B. was acting adjutant and was shot in the first few birds and killed.

Lieut. Willich is taken prisoner and Capt. Sill is killed.

Lt. Col. Drake of the 49th O.V. is dead and Maj. Porter of the same regiment is wounded.

Billy Todd when shot called for the Capt. and when placed again a tree he told the boys to save them
- unless as he would die. He was shot through the head near the temple.

John Fisher was shot through the nose
I believe but am not certain.

I myself got off safe - I had the Chaplain's horse and I led him through our lines and across the field that our boys were on and mounted him and went with Lt. Col. Litson of the 49th O.V.

CASH ACCOUNT - JANUARY.

Dec. 27th 1862

As we drove the enemy slowly before us to day a terrible incident took place of the
Maj. Wiggins of the 7th Penn Vol. Cavalry was pursuing a squad of rebels - and having a good horse under him he left his command some way in the rear. Reaching up to a Lieutenant (rebel) he (Major) demanded him to surrender.

The Lt. about faced and said the same for the Major.
The Major struck at the Lt.
with his sabre and broke it over the Lt's carbine. The Lt. then raised his carbine and would have shot Major W. had not the gun refused to go off. Major W. jumped up and took hold of the Lt. when the Lt. hit him on the chest with his carbine. The Lt. ran away, they both grasped and

Mar. 7. after getting a black eye and bruised face on side the rebel give up: just at this time some of our men came up and took the rebels over to the General's 1st Regt. In the afternoon as Mar. 7. was riding past the Genl. 1st Regt. the General called him to him and asked him if he had taken the Lieutenant's prisoner. The Genl. was close by and walking up said: Yes that is the man and he is the only man that we could find in our yet—but Major (says he is a Hyrcop) you did one a mean trick you bit my finger most off when you knew me. Oh! that is nothing says Mar. 7. you should not have struck me with that shot-gun of yours when I had nothing myself having broken my saber over your gun—but it all right now.

The Non-colored Pike. My horse was shot and my have- sack was cut off of one by the rebel balls. Our boys lost everything they had in the shape of knapsacks and staple articles. I saw one of Col. Jones' boys who had 3 shots in his knapsack and not one of them touched him. The boys' coats, hats pajamas, are full of bullet holes. My hat has one hole through it. A regular stampede occurred on the M. Pike. Wagons and stragglers all going towards Nashville, but the rebels and 2<sup>d</sup> Div. formed a line and drove them back at the point of the bayonet. The rebels got a large party in our rear at La Vergne and burnt the trains of wagons that were on the way to Nashville. Col. Jones shot 3 rebel cavalry with his revolver while going to the pike. We saved but two pieces of artillery out of both batteries. numbering 12 pieces.

Jan. 5th 1863
 All quiet this morning. Later the rebels have vacated Memphis.
 I went with Col Jones and Captain Herring and some 30 of our men over to our battle ground of Dec. 31st 1862.

We found a good many of our dead laying on the field.
 We gathered them together and tomorrow will bury them.

6th
 Lt. Gode, Capt. Stevenson, Col Jones and myself went over on horses to see our wounded in the different hospitals.

I saw none of our company except John M. Brellard—who is shot through his left breast and I fear will die.
 James Cosby who is shot through the head and is out of his head not knowing his most intimate friends. He will die I expect.

Wm. Todd—shot through the neck he may get well.

Jas. Gore—shot through thigh
