COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

CHARLES H. M. BAMBACH PHOTOGRAPHS 1904-1905

CATALOG NUMBER YELL 147387

VOLUME 0.25 LF

DESCRIPTION The collection visually documents work at the Norris Lunch Station and Hotel in Yellowstone National Park by Charles H. M. Bambach, 1904-1905.

The collection consists of 65 sepia-toned photographs, six of which are mounted on cardboard. Three of the mounted images are embossed with the label "W. A. Matson, Mapleton, North Dakota". Most photographs are annotated on the verso, probably by Bambach. A few images have additional notes, probably by more recent family members, that identify Bambach in the images. One photograph is identified as having been taken by a pinhole camera, two images are a small panorama format, and one mounted image is oval.

The collection documents the life of an employee at the Norris Lunch Station and Hotel, Yellowstone National Park, in the years 1904 and 1905. There are numerous images of the staff during leisure hours: hiking, going on a picnic, floating on a raft, climbing the Norris water tower, and dressing up in costumes. There are two images of the women in pants--one for fun and one likely for hiking--and one of the men in dresses. There are also images of work, including polishing candlesticks, peeling apples, hanging laundry on the line (wearing a wrapper or Mother Hubbard), and staffing the office and dining room. Individuals identified in the images include Charles H. M. Bambach, Sophie Hatch, Bill Hatch, Josephene, Annie Smoultbower, chef Gene Tibesar, August Kelting and his brother, and Bill

Matson, who is further identified as Native American.

Additional views include photographs of tourists climbing a trail, a smaller stagecoach, and lowering the American flag. Structures shown include the Norris Lunch Station and Hotel, the Norris water tank, the Norris pump house, and the Roosevelt Arch. Interior views depict the office (possibly also the lobby), the telegraph office, and the dining room of the Hotel. There is also one photograph of Mammoth Hot Springs (mislabeled Old Faithful Inn) that shows the Cottage Hotel, the National Hotel, and the Liberty Cap. Landscape images include summer snow, bears feeding at the Norris dump, Fountain Paint Pots, and the Norris Geyser Basin.

ORGANIZATION

The collection is arranged broadly by format and then by subject.
