Holiday Hours at the Andersonville National Historic Site

ANDERSONVILLE, Georgia – During the upcoming winter holiday season, the National Prisoner of War Museum at Andersonville National Historic Site will be closed on Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 2011; Christmas Day, December 25, 2011; and New Years Day, January 1, 2012. The park entrance, prison site, and picnic area will be closed on these three days.

The Andersonville National Cemetery will be open to the public each of these holidays, from 8:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Holiday access to the National Cemetery will be through the Cemetery gate, located just north of the city of Andersonville on Highway 49. “The National Cemetery remains open on holidays to allow families to visit their loved ones,” remarked park superintendent Brad Bennett.

Andersonville National Historic Site is located 10 miles south of Oglethorpe, GA and 10 miles northeast of Americus, GA on Georgia Highway 49. The site features the National Prisoner of War Museum, Andersonville National Cemetery and the site of the historic Civil War prison, Camp Sumter. Andersonville National Historic Site is a unit of the National Park System and serves as a memorial to all American prisoners of war. Park grounds are open from 8:00 am until 5:00 pm with the museum opening at 8:30 am. Admission is free.
