Public Campgrounds

KANE CREEK ROAD

There are four campgrounds along Kane Creek Road; some are on an unpaved road. These are scenic, primitive sites, with vault toilets and fire rings. All campsites are first-come, first-served. No water available.

HIGHWAY 128

There are 12 campgrounds along UT 128. These sites are adjacent to the Colorado River and are very scenic. In the summer, the campgrounds closest to Moab tend to fill early, but the sites farther up the road may be available later in the day. Some sites are developed, others are more primitive, but all have vault toilets and fire rings. All campsites are first-come, first-served. No water available.

HIGHWAY 279 (POTASH ROAD)

There are three campgrounds along UT 279. The sites are near the Colorado River, are very scenic, and are usually busy during the summer. Some sites are developed, others are more primitive, but all have vault toilets and fire rings. All campsites are first-come, first-served. No water available.

HIGHWAY 313

Horsethief Campground is located on UT 313 – the entrance road to Canyonlands National Park and Dead Horse Point State Park. There are 55 sites and it is one of the largest public campgrounds in the area. All sites are first-come, first-served. Facilities include picnic tables, vault toilets, and grills. Cowboy Camp has six primitive sites that are first-come, first-served. No water available.

SAND FLATS

Sand Flats has 120 campsites available first-come, first served. Camping is limited to designated sites. Some campsites have picnic tables, fire rings and nearby vault toilets. No water available. Reservable group sites are available.

GROUP SITES

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) has 26 group campsites; most sites have a 15-person minimum. To reserve one of these sites, call the BLM at (435) 259-2102. Sand Flats also offers group sites, which may be reserved by calling (435) 259-2444. No water available.

Private Campgrounds

Moab has many privately-owned campgrounds. All of them have restrooms, drinking water, and showers. Most have picnic tables, dump stations, and laundry facilities. For a list of private campgrounds in the Moab area, ask for a Moab Activities Planner.
