

Learn about Badlands National Park!

Colors of the Seasons

The beautiful scenery at Badlands changes with every season. In winter, the striped hills are draped in white snow; in spring, big black thunderstorms roll across the open prairie; in summer, fields erupt with a rainbow of wildflowers; and in autumn, cottonwoods glow in the golden sun.

Try coloring these scenes how you think they would look during different times of the year.

