

BioBlitz! Presentation Schedule

Base Camp at Convoy Point | Friday, April 30, 2010

Main Stage	Time	Visitor Center Auditorium
Endangered Species in our National Parks Peter Dratch, National Park Service Endangered Species Program	9 a.m.	Looking Back on Biscayne Bay: Geologic and Climate Changes of the Past Dr. G. Lynn Wingard, Eastern Geology and Paleoclimate Science Center, USGS
Dolphin Acoustics: How Dolphins See With Sound Noelle Belden and Courtney Dancer, Dolphin Research Center	10 a.m.	Coral Reefs: The Rainforests of the Sea...Biodiversity to the Max! Nancy Knowlton, Biodiversity scientist, SANT Chair of Marine Science, Smithsonian Museum of Natural History
	11 a.m.	Meet The New WebRanger Program: Seagrass and More Lynne Murdock, National Park Service, Interpretive Specialist/Liaison for the Biology and Resource Management Division
Opening Ceremony with Jeff Burnside, Investigative Reporter for NBC 6	11:30 a.m.
Countdown to BioBlitz with Billy B., the Natural Science Song and Dance Man	12 noon	Changing Seas This Public Television program offers an unprecedented look at Earth's vast underwater wilderness. Episodes include: Super Grouper , Mission to Inner Space , Corals of the Deep , and Farming the Sea .
Ocean Update: What You Can Do Sylvia Earle, Oceanographer and Explorer-in-Residence, National Geographic Society	1 p.m.
Snakes, Alligators and Crocodiles, Oh My! Wildlife Demonstration Wayne Rassner	2 p.m.	Sharks: Exploring the Planet's Most Fierce & Least Understood Predators Dr. Neil Hammerschlag Research Assistant Professor, UM Rosenstiel School of Marine & Atmospheric Science and Leonard and Jayne Abess Center for Ecosystem Science & Policy, Director, R.J. Dunlap Marine Conservation Program, University of Miami.
Encyclopedia of Life: A Web Page for Every Species Marie Studer, Ph.D., Encyclopedia of Life Learning and Education Director	3 p.m.	Sea Life Under the Bridge Suzan Meldonian, underwater photo journalist and Author of "Under the Bridge"
ROVs and Robotics in Dade County: Underwater Exploration with Remotely Operated Vehicles Nola Garcia, President of StarBot, Inc.—a non profit corporation providing engineering, robotics and technology education to South Florida students.	4 p.m.	Introducing the Mangrove Snapper Caroline Hammerschlag, Florida International University
	5 p.m.	Bed Bugs: Don't Let Them Bite Chris Furqueron and Carol DeSalvia, Integrated Pest Management (IPM), National Park Service

BioBlitz! Presentation Schedule (continued)

Base Camp at Convoy Point | Saturday, May 1, 2010

Main Stage	Time	Visitor Center Auditorium
The Counting Continueswith Billy B., the Natural Science Song and Dance Man	9 a.m.	Seeing is Believing: Robots Explore Underwater! Dr. Mark Gleason, Great Lakes Naval Memorial and Museum
Seeing With Sound: Dolphin Acoustics Adrianna Ortiz and Jennifer Powell, Dolphin Research Center and Education Instructors	10 a.m.	Fieldscope: Collaborative Mapping for Education A web-based mapping and educational tool of the National Geographic Society
Live Music with Grant Livingston Local singer, songwriter and environmentalist	11 a.m.	B.O.L.O. for Alien Invaders! Larry Perez, NPS Science Communications Outreach
Science Highlights: Interviews from the Field	12 noon	Changing Seas This Public Television program offers an unprecedented look at Earth's vast underwater wilderness. Episodes include: Super Grouper , Mission to Inner Space , Corals of the Deep , and Farming the Sea .
Closing Ceremony: BioBlitz Final Tally Announced and 2011 BioBlitz Location Revealed	12:30 p.m.
Live Music with Grant Livingston Local singer, songwriter and environmentalist	1 p.m.	Identifying South Florida Marine Invertebrates Dr. Charles Messing, Nova Southeastern University
Fabulous Florida Wildlife Jennifer Nelson, Miami Metro Zoo	2 p.m.	BioBlitz: Captured in Photographs National Geographic Photo Camp Final Show Presentation
Fabulous Florida Wildlife, Part II Jennifer Nelson, Miami Metro Zoo	3 p.m.	The Schaus' Swallowtail: Past, Present, and Future Dr. Marc Minno, author or coauthor of six books on butterflies
Nature Songs and Morewith Billy B., the Natural Science Song and Dance Man	4 p.m.	5 Things I Learned at BioBlitz Peter W. Thayer, President, Thayer Birding Software