Celebrating Black History Month

Americans have recognized black history annually since 1926, first as "Negro History Week" and later as "Black History Month." What you might not know is that black history had barely begun to be studied-or even documented-when the tradition originated. Although blacks have been in America at least as far back as colonial times, it was not until the 20th century that they gained a respectable presence in the history books. We want to take time out and celebrate Black History Month at Brown v. Board of Education National Historic Site.

Can you find these inventors? The time of their inventions span from Ancient Egypt to1960.
