One of Cape Cod's oldest golf courses, perhaps its most scenic, Highland Links in North Truro is one of America's golf treasures, perched high along windswept bluffs overlooking the Atlantic Ocean next to the vintage Highland Light. Founded in circa 1892-1898, Highland has seen more than a hundred years of golf. More significant than its age is Highland's heritage; circumstances keep it a genuine links, as close to the Scottish tradition found anywhere in the eastern United States, with deep natural rough, scotch broom, heath and spectacular ocean views.

Highland Links is part of the Truro Highlands Historic District which encompasses an area of North Truro, Massachusetts within the Cape Cod National Seashore. This area has served as a recreational destination for more than 175 years. The major features of the district, which is centered on Highland Road east of US 6, are the Highland Light Station, the Highland House (now a museum), and the Highland Links.
