Explore!

Do you have a camera?

Take a picture of something in the park and show it to the ranger!

Draw a line between the pictures and the places on the map where you can do these things. Hint: use the symbols.

A map of Catoctin Mountain Park (National Park Service) showing various trails, landmarks, and symbols. The map includes labels for 'Cunningham Falls', 'Hunting Creek Lake', 'Frank Bantz Memorial Lake', and 'Visitor Center'. Symbols on the map include a horse, a mountain peak, a person walking, a person climbing, a person fishing, a person on a bicycle, a person in a wheelchair, a picnic table, a fire ring, and a camera. The map is overlaid with the activity photos from the surrounding blocks.

Learn!

Tell the ranger something you learned about the park.

Take a leaf rubbing. Find an interesting leaf, place it under this paper, and color the paper with your pencil or crayon.

Connect the dots to complete a common family in the park.

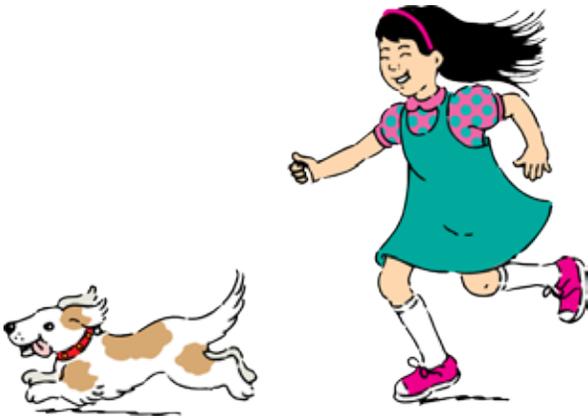

Protect!

How did you prepare for your trip today?

Help these people do the right thing in their park. Fix the drawings.

Hint: dogs need leashes.

Hint: fires need to be attended or put out.

Hint: hikers need water, sun protection, maybe long pants, anything else?

Hint: trash needs to go in a trash can.
