COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, or research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later uses a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution's permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn't indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or if the creator is dead from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn't necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for "fair use."

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Harold (Hal) E. Malde began his career with the USGS (United States Geological Survey) in 1951 performing the geologic studies of the western Snake River Plain of Idaho. In 1964 Hal Malde began a 10 yr investigation, with a team from Harvard, into Early Man sites in the Puebla Valley of Mexico. While developing the geologic maps to this project he gained specialized knowledge of volcanic deposits. His studies of basaltic lava flows were used by Allan Cox to develop the theory of plate tectonics.

Additionally, Hal Malde received the Kirk Bryan Award by the Geologic Society of America for helping with the discovery of the late Pleistocene Bonneville Flood.

As an active environmentalist, Hal represented the USGS on the Departments of Oil Shale Environmental Advisory Panel from 1976 until 1980. For his efforts he was awarded the Meritorious Service Award by the US Department of Interior in 1979. Hal participated on the committee of the National Academy of Sciences writing several reports on the impacts of surface mining.

In 2000, Malde produced two (single copy) reports for CCNHP entitled "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon Based on Photographs Made During the 1896-1899 Hyde Expedition and in the 1970s" and "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon NHP Based on Photographs Made in the 1930s, 1970s and the Year 2000."

Repeat photography is the practice of finding the site of an earlier photograph, reoccupying the original camera position and making a new photograph of the same subject, preferably at the same time of day and the same time of year. The object is to make a matched pair of photographs so as to compare large and small features, thus demonstrating possible geomorphic and biologic changes over time.

Hal Malde retired from the Survey in 1987 and devoted himself to his photography and love for nature. He was an enthusiastic supporter of The Nature Conservancy and after retirement, embarked on a two-decade journey to document preserves around the country through photographs. He logged as many as 14,000 miles a year, visiting 650 preserves in the process--more than any other person. He provided over 20,000 images to the Nature Conservancy and was awarded the Conservancy's Oak Leaf Award in 1993 for his volunteer service.

SERIES AND FILE UNIT DESCRIPTIONS

Collection/Series: 0041/001
Series Title: SERIES I: Reports

Accession: CHCU-00778      Catalog Nbr: CHCU 104623
Inclusive Dates: 1896-2000      Bulk Dates: 2000

History: In 2000, Malde prepared two (single copy) reports for CCNHP entitled "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon Based on Photographs Made During the 1896-1899 Hyde Expedition and in the 1970s" and "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon NHP Based on Photographs Made in the 1930s, 1970s and the Year 2000."

During the 1970's, Malde repeated several photographs made during the 1896-1899 Hyde Expedition (which were attributed to Richard Wetherill.) These matching photographs became the subject of the former report which also included a photograph from 1950 which was repeated in 1976. In the latter report, Chauvenet 1930s photographs, Gordon Vivian 1940s photographs and the photographs Malde himself made in the 1970s for the first comparison were repeated.

Sites included in the reports are Kin Bineola, Mockingbird Canyon, Fajada Butte, Una Vida, Chetro Ketl, Pueblo Bonito, Casa Rinconada and Ruin BC-51.

These two reports were also published by Wright Paleohydrological Institute circa 2001.

Scope: "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon Based on Photographs Made During the 1896-1899 Hyde Expedition and in the 1970s" and "Repeat Photography at Chaco Canyon NHP Based on Photographs Made in the 1930s, 1970s and the Year 2000"

There are also surveys Hal Malde conducted in 1972

Arrangement: Survey and reports catalogued separately: C51407, C52403, C52404 Arranged in chronological order

Provenance: HAL MALDE

Dates: SEPT. 1950

Creator: VIVIAN, GORDON ||Keef, Joe

Phys Desc: Chaco Canyon

Summary Notes: Approx. 3.5 miles upstream from headquarters at point where road crosses the Chaco Wash. View is looking downstream. Note how the sandbar willow, Salix communis, has slowed down the flow in Chaco Wash and apparently deposited considerable sediment and debris. This particular stream of water never reached the HQ area. This species of willow lays down during periods of heavy flood and holds existing deposits.
