Several trails and roads traverse eastern Santa Cruz Island, providing visitors with spectacular hiking opportunities. These trails and roads range from the maintained, relatively flat, signed trails of Scorpion Valley to the unmaintained, rugged, mountainous paths of the Montañon area. Hikers need to assume individual responsibility for planning their trips and hiking safely. To increase your odds of a safe hike, decrease your disturbance to wildlife, and lessen damage to resources, visitors should be in good physical condition and must follow the regulations and guidelines in the “Limiting Your Impact” section on the park website and those listed below:

- Stay on trails and roads while hiking—avoid animal trails which are narrow, uneven, unstable, and dangerous.
- Cliff edges should be avoided at all times since they tend to be crumbly and unstable. Stay well back. Rock throwing from cliffs is not permitted as it can be dangerous for kayakers below.
- Hikers should avoid hiking alone—use the buddy system. This allows someone to go for help if you encounter trouble.
- No pets. Pets are not allowed on the islands. Pets can carry diseases that could harm the island fox or other animals that are unique to the islands. Service animals require a permit from the park superintendent.
- Carry plenty of water and drink it. One quart for short walks, more for longer hikes.
- In order to help prevent wildfires, do not smoke on trails or in brush areas. Smoking is allowed only on beaches.
- Be aware of poison oak, “jumping” cholla cactus, ticks, and scorpions. Poison oak can be identified by its clusters of three shiny leaflets. Some ticks carry disease; check your clothing and exposed skin after hiking.
- No hiking is allowed beyond the national park boundary onto The Nature Conservancy property. The boundary is marked by a fenceline between Prisoners Harbor and Valley Anchorage.
- When departing from the islands, visitors are responsible for meeting the boat concessioner on time. Be aware of departure time by looking at your boarding pass or asking the ranger or concessioner employees.
- Pack out what you pack in, including your trash. There are no trash cans on the island so please take your garbage with you.
- Do not directly or indirectly feed the wildlife. Secure your trash and food at all times. Use the storage boxes provided at the picnic tables or behind the kiosk in the orientation area. Failure to store your food and trash properly or intentionally feeding wildlife will result in a citation.
