

A photograph of a piping plover nesting on a sandy beach. In the foreground, several speckled eggs are visible, along with some dark seaweed and a piece of driftwood. In the background, a piping plover is standing on the sand. The text "Fire Island's Piping Plover Program" is overlaid on the image in a large, bold, black serif font.

Fire Island's Piping Plover Program

Join members of the Park's Resource Management Staff as they discuss and share with you the goals and values of this program.