Fort McHenry

National Monument and Historic Shrine

Welcome to Fort McHenry National Monument and Historic Shrine!

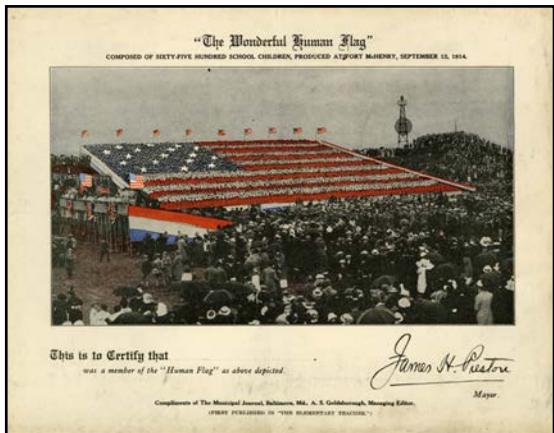

I hope you enjoy your visit! Fort McHenry is one of over 400 units in the National Park System. It tells the story of a defining moment in American history, when our nation defended its young democracy in its second and final struggle for independence. Here in Baltimore, Americans rich and poor, black and white, male and female, free and enslaved banded together to save their new nation, just weeks after the Capitol burned.

The defenders of Fort McHenry bravely protected the city from the strongest navy in the world as its residents collectively held their breath. Francis Scott Key, upon seeing the glory of the American flag over the ramparts of the fort the morning after the 25-hour bombardment, was so inspired he wrote the Star-Spangled Banner - words that have become threads in our American fabric.

100 years later, as Europe became consumed in World War I, Baltimore commemorated the Centennial with parades, monuments, ceremonies, and grand pageantry. 6,500 city school children donning red, white, and blue capes formed America's greatest symbol of freedom and democracy, a giant living Star-Spangled Banner at Fort McHenry.

Today we pay homage to the old defenders and Key and to those who came before us. We not only recreate the Star-Spangled Banner Living Flag, we broadcast it worldwide! We have an array of special programs and events to commemorate this once-in-a-lifetime 200th anniversary that I hope you will find enjoyable and inspirational.

On September 8, 1914, a writer in the Baltimore Sun pondered what the old defenders and Key would think of the Centennial commemoration and speculated about what ours would be like in 2014. I wonder as he did about what the next centennial commemoration will bring - in 2114 - and echo his sentiment that you will read below as I believe it couldn't be said better ... Superintendent Tina Cappetta

“Let our hope and prayer be that a hundred years from now, whatever other changes time may have wrought, the people of 2014 may still see the same banner waving over them that waves over us, and still symbolizing the principles of justice, brotherhood and equality of opportunity.” The Sun, September 8, 2014

VISITOR CENTER

At the Fort McHenry National Monument and Historic Shrine Visitor Center, watch the 11-minute multi-media program about the Battle of Baltimore and the writing of “The Star-Spangled Banner.” Explore the museum’s interactive exhibits about the battle. See Francis Scott Key’s original handwritten manuscript, on loan for the anniversary period from the Maryland Historical Society. The Visitor Center also contains a gift shop, operated by the Evelyn Hill Corporation, which contains a wide variety of books and keepsakes about Fort McHenry and “The Star-Spangled Banner.”

Fort McHenry National Monument and Historic Shrine

Known as “The Birthplace of the National Anthem,” the successful defense of this fort from British attack during the War of 1812 saved the city of Baltimore from destruction. The sight of the 30’ x 42’ American flag waving over the fort inspired Francis Scott Key to pen the words that became “The Star-Spangled Banner,” which became our National Anthem in 1931.

Following the War of 1812, Fort McHenry continued to serve the nation as an active Army post. During the American Civil War, Federal troops garrisoned the fort. Fort McHenry served as a prison for Confederate soldiers and civilians suspected of being loyal to the South. Even Francis Scott Key’s grandson was imprisoned in the fort as a Confederate sympathizer.

During World War I, the U.S. Army converted the fort into one of the largest hospitals in the U.S. Over 100 buildings surrounded the fort with 4,000 patients and hospital staff in residence. Advances in plastic surgery and some of the first programs for disabled American veterans were promoted at the hospital.

Although transferred from the U.S. Army to the National Park Service in 1933, Fort McHenry’s military use continued during World War II, when the United States Coast Guard converted a portion of the grounds to a training base. Approximately 26,000 U.S.C.G. personnel trained there.

Under the stewardship of the National Park Service, Fort McHenry continues to be a source of inspiration to Americans. Living history, military ceremonies, special concerts and hundreds of educational programs for schools make the site relevant and highlight the power of place to a new generation.

Did you know...

that Fort McHenry is one of five sites in the world that flies the U.S. flag 24 hours a day by orders of the President of the United States? The others are Iwo Jima (USMC) Memorial, The White House, Washington Monument, D.C., and U.S. Ports of Entry.

Schedule of Daily Events:

As we commemorate the 200th anniversary of the Battle of Baltimore and the writing of “The Star-Spangled Banner” we invite you to enjoy the special events, ceremonies, living history demonstrations and interpretive programs. There are several signature events, including The Star-Spangled Banner Living Flag on September 9th; The Rockets' Red Glare and the Flag is Still There!, an evening of patriotic music, pageantry, and a spectacular fireworks display on September 13th; and By Dawn's Early Light, a real-time program marking 200 years to the minute since the Star-Spangled Banner was hoisted over the fort, inspiring Francis Scott Key to pen his immortal words.

Throughout this special week there will be several special exhibitions in the Visitor Center. Thanks to The Star-Spangled Banner Flag House in Baltimore, we'll have on display a piece of fabric from the original 30' x 42' flag. Also, see Francis Scott Key's original handwritten manuscript, The Defence of Fort McHenry, on generous loan from the Maryland Historical Society.

We hope that you, your family and friends enjoy these commemorative events and that you visit again in the years to come!
