Glimpses of the Past: September 17, 2015

“I am a Soldier” by Ken Dusenberry and Rick Lohsen

Las Vegas, NM: Have you ever wondered what it was like to be a soldier in the Southwest during the late 1800's? Join members of the Artillery Company of New Mexico as they lead an intimate and thought-provoking journey into the uniform, day-to-day duties, struggles, and achievements of America's military men of the late 19th century. This program will be held at the CCHP/Santa Fe Trail Interpretive Center, 116 Bridge Street, Las Vegas, New Mexico, Thursday, September 17, 2015, 7:00PM.

The Glimpses of the Past series is free in partnership with the Citizens Committee for Historic Preservation. For more information, contact Fort Union National Monument at (505) 425-8025, visit www.nps.gov/foun, or like on us on Facebook at www.facebook.com/FortUnionNM.

Fort Union (1851-1891) was the largest frontier military post and supply center of the southwest. The National Park Service preserves and protects the historic Fort Union and ruts of the Santa Fe Trail.
