

Be a part of history!

First State National Historical Park needs you to help us understand the history of the Beaver Valley/ Woodlawn Tract as we plan for the future. Your knowledge will be part of a study on the history of this land.

When: Saturday, May 21st 9 AM - 1 PM

Where: “Citizen History” tent, First State NHP BioBlitz, 291 Ramsey Rd., Wilmington

Who: Residents and visitors of the area with memories or documents showing how the land has changed over time, and what it means to you

Two ways to participate:

Share your memories

Join us for a 30-minute recorded interview. We are looking to talk to people who can share:

- Memories of the land, and what it means to you and your community
- Information about key people and key events associated with Beaver Valley/ Woodlawn Tract
- How the way we use and understand the land has changed over time

Help us picture the past

Bring your favorite photos and documents to scan (and return). We are looking for documents that show:

- Photos taken within the Beaver Valley/ Woodlawn Tract, and information about where and when they were taken
- Documents showing how people have used the land, and how it has changed

No sign-up needed — we'll see you at the BioBlitz!
for more information, visit: www.nps.gov/frst

bioblitz

2016
National Park Service
CENTENNIAL

NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC