

Glacier Association

The Glacier Association is a nonprofit cooperating association of the National Park Service. Glacier Association helps to support Glacier National Park's educational, interpretive, cultural and scientific program needs. Support is generated by sales at bookstores in visitor centers and ranger stations located throughout the Park, as well as from the website bookstore, mail-order catalog, and annual membership program. Publications and materials are offered which promote a better understanding of Glacier's diversity of landscapes, animal and plant life, culture, and history. The following publications and related products are recommended as educational tools detailing the flora, fauna, and history of Glacier National Park. All items are available at the Apgar Visitor Center, the Glacier Association office located at the Belton Train Depot, online at www.glacierassociation.org, or by phone at 406-888-5756.
