Introduction

Golden Gate National Recreation Area

Park Description

Golden Gate National Recreation Area (GGNRA), a unit of the National Park Service, was established by an Act of Congress on October 27, 1972. The 80,000-acre park encompasses a great diversity of cultural and natural resources in and around the Bay Area of San Francisco, California. It includes Muir Woods National Monument and Fort Point National Historic Site.

The park holds almost five million three-dimensional and documentary artifacts dating from the time before European contact to the present. They are preserved and maintained for the public by the Division of Cultural Resources and Museum Management, which includes the Park Archives and Records Center (PARC).

Park Archives and Records Center

Historical Note

GGNRA and the sites within it have been collecting records since their inception. The PARC was established in 1994 to receive records and archival collections from the U.S. Army and the Presidio Army Museum after the closure of the Presidio of San Francisco as an Army base. The collections continue to grow through the donation of materials by private individuals, transfer of inactive park records by staff, and acquisition of relevant documentary materials.

Scope of Collections

The archival collections in the custody of the GGNRA document the history and activity of the various sites and groups associated with the park, described in the park's Scope of Collection Statement (2009).

The PARC contains U.S. Army and National Park Service facility records for the Presidio of San Francisco, forts and coast defense sites in the area, and various GGNRA sites. Subjects and sites documented include the United States Army (Bear Flag Revolt, Civil War, Spanish-American War, Mexican War, World War I, Army Air Service, Coast Artillery, Army medical facilities and issues, World War II, Army support during natural disasters, Viet Nam War, and Operation Desert Storm); Alcatraz Island (Army fortress, Army Disciplinary Barracks, U.S. Penitentiary, and Indian Occupation); the natural resources conservation movement resulting in the establishment of Muir Woods National Monument; agriculture in the Marin Headlands; Point Reyes Peninsula and Bolinas Lagoon areas; U.S. Lifesaving/Coast Guard Services; San Francisco Earthquake and Fire of 1906; Panama Pacific International Exposition of 1915; natural resources and environmental issues; and preservation of open space in the Bay Area. Also included in the PARC are many of the GGNRA administrative records that document the development and expansion of this park.

Visiting the PARC for Research

The PARC is located in an historic brick building, formerly a cavalry stable, on the Presidio of San Francisco. Collections and archives support services are available for walk-in research during open hours or by appointment. Please contact the PARC (see below) for the current schedule of reference hours.

Copy Services

Black and white photocopy services for standard and oversize materials are available on-site. Color photocopying, photographic duplication, and duplication of other media are available by special arrangement. Researchers are charged for all duplicates on a cost-recovery basis.

Rights and Publications

Copies are provided under the Fair Use provisions of the Copyright Law (Title 17, U.S.C.). Researchers must complete a Permission to Publish Contract form with the Park Archivist for any other intended use of these materials (such as publication or exhibit). Researchers should consult with staff regarding their needs for commercial or public use of materials.

Legal Status of Holdings

Many holdings of the PARC were acquired/transferred prior to the establishment of the archives program, and have little documentation on their provenance (source/chain of custody). All materials received after 1994 have been accessioned and documented. If provenance cannot be determined, the PARC assumes that it owns the property rights, but does not own the copyright. Staff will provide assistance, but it is the responsibility of the researcher to acquire permission from the copyright holder to cite, quote, or reproduce collection materials.

Collections developed by or for government organizations or operations are in the public domain and may be used, cited, and quoted without restriction, provided they are properly credited to the PARC. The archives contain no national security classified materials.

Donations to the Collections

The PARC welcomes donations of a variety of historic materials that meet the criteria in the Scope of Collections Statement and do not duplicate existing holdings. Collections are maintained for research use in perpetuity; there is no guarantee that items will be exhibited. If you own materials that may be relevant to the themes of GGNRA and would like to deposit them in the PARC, please consult with an archivist.

After reviewing the finding aid, please discuss your specific needs with the archivist who will locate and retrieve the relevant materials.

How to Use the Collections

Please follow all rules and regulations regarding research, the use of the research facility, and the handling of collection materials. This will protect the collections so they continue to be available for generations to come. If anything appears to be out of order or damaged, please notify a staff member.

The Army Real Estate records are an extensive collection of materials, dating from the 1920s to the 1990s. These records originated from the Army's Master Planning Branch. The bulk of the materials were created during 1960 through 1989. The collection consists of published documents, correspondence, and master plans, building plans, Army records, photographs, newspapers, brochures, and maps.

The major focus of these records relates to military real property. Military property refers to the lands, buildings, structures, utilities, improvements, heating systems, and equipment. This collection documents the changes, additions, and conditions of the lands and structures that are now in the domain of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

There are records regarding base realignment, which took place in 1972, and again in 1994 before the transfer to the Park Service. The space utilization records concerns space requests and potential leases of buildings to other government agencies and nongovernment entities. Space surveys were conducted to determine space availability. Throughout the years there were numerous space requests for Presidio buildings. The Army received a large amount of space requests when the Public Health Service Hospital closed in 1981. Other Federal agencies, such as FEMA used buildings on the Presidio when the Army was stationed there.

The real property inventory is also a large portion of the collection, and these inventories documented what buildings were considered under the Army domain, which was being leased out to other agencies, and what was available. There are records which detail real property installations, transfers, and demolitions. Some examples might be the installation of a heating system in a building, the transfer of a building to another agency, and the demolition of a building that is included on the real property inventory (which would take the building off the Army's real property inventory). The demolition files include photos and justifications for the demolition. These records provide extensive evidence of the changing landscape and infrastructure of the Presidio of San Francisco, and Forts Baker, Barry and Cronkhite.

Army life and society at the Presidio is documented in this collection. Important news stories, numerous proposals, and controversies are also documented with photographs, correspondence, and news articles, providing further historical context. This collection is not only important for Presidio and military history, but the history of San Francisco.

History

The Army at the Presidio

The U.S. Army was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco from 1848-1994, the last Army headquarters being the Sixth U.S. Army. The Presidio of San Francisco military reservation at the Golden Gate developed into the most important Army post on the Pacific Coast. Over time its armaments evolved from smooth bore cannons to modern missiles. It became the nerve center of a coastal defense system that eventually included Alcatraz and Angel Island and that reached as far north as the Marin Headlands and as far south as Fort Funston. These lands were all incorporated into the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. Eventually, there were five distinct posts at the Presidio, each with its own commander: the Main Post, Fort Point, Letterman Hospital, Fort Winfield Scott, and Crissy Army Air Field. Also on the 1,491-acre reservation were a Coast Guard lifesaving station and a U.S. Public Health Service Hospital. (<http://www.presidio.gov/history/history/park.htm>)<sup>2</sup>

Transfer to the National Park Service

In 1972, the Presidio of San Francisco, then an active installation was included within the boundaries of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. On October 1, 1994, after the post became excess to military needs, it was transferred to the National Park Service. (<http://www.presidio.gov/history/history/park.htm>)<sup>3</sup>

The Presidio of San Francisco and Public Involvement

The U.S. Army installation at the Presidio of San Francisco provides insight into Army life, historic buildings, and the ever changing cultural landscape of this prized piece of real estate. The Presidio has always been a source of opportunity and debate. For example, the Presidio lands have gone through numerous proposals for use of space. The people of San Francisco have always been concerned with new proposals and plans at the Presidio. When the Public Health Service Hospital closed down the public voiced their opinions and concerns. There were numerous proposals, such as the AIDS hospital that never went forward. Another example is the McKinney Homeless plan, which proposed to house the homeless of San Francisco in vacant buildings on the Presidio. This plan never transpired either. When the plans for a U.S. post office on Crissy Field were conceived the Sierra Club got involved and filed a lawsuit. The post office was never built. Public involvement with the preservation and protection of Presidio lands is what makes this area even more precious and unique.

anything from the construction of a new building to the installation of a heating system. These records provide extensive evidence of the changing infrastructure and landscape of the Presidio and Forts Baker, Barry, and Cronkhite.

Subseries B: Real Property Inventory

The real property inventories document the land, buildings and infrastructure that fall under the 6th Army domain. These inventories were reports that changed frequently. The inventories changed frequently because of demolitions, installations and transfers.

Subseries C: Space Utilization and Requests

Throughout the 6th Army's time stationed at the Presidio there were numerous requests to use underutilized space. Outside agencies were able to rent buildings that were vacant. Some examples are the Federal Emergency Management Agency, and the Fort Point Museum Association. Many other entities, including the City of San Francisco were involved with proposing various ideas for use of space in the Presidio. The Presidio has always been prime real estate.

Subseries D: Base Realignment

The two major components of this series is the base realignment plan called "Operation Steadfast", and the base realignment and closure plans that preceded the final base closure at the Presidio. "Operation Steadfast" was a base realignment plan that would have moved a large portion of the 6th Army operations to Treasure Island. The base realignment and closure records document the Presidio's final closure. A lot of these records include correspondence with the National Park Service, in anticipation with the transfer of these lands.

Subseries E: Vouchers/Leases/Permits

These records include original vouchers of real property, leases to agencies and right of way or use permits. The vouchers are organized together by fiscal year. The original leases include the correspondence regarding property leases. Permits include right of ways permits and film permits for temporary land use.

Subseries F: Golden Gate Bridge Highway & Toll District

These records concern correspondence with the Golden Gate Bridge Highway & Toll District. Plans concerning the widening of Doyle Drive, the bridge approach, toll plaza, and the Roundhouse restaurant are included. There is also an interesting proposal to make the Golden Gate Bridge into a double deck bridge.

Subseries G: Letterman General Hospital

These records concern any real estate projects concerning the Letterman General Hospital. The majority are construction project specifications and details. There are also some records concerning the animal laboratory and Letterman history.

Subseries H: General Real Property Files

The general real property records describe the overall management of real property. Included are handbooks, manuals, and training guides.

Subseries I: Public Health Service Hospital

These records describe the closure of the hospital. When news came out that the Public Health Hospital was closing many proposals and requests came in. The hospital was very close to reopening as an AIDS hospital. Numerous space requests came in to use the vacated buildings.

Subseries J: Master Plan Files

These records describe the overall master plans of the 6th U.S. Army. Some organizational records of the Master Planning Branch are also included.

Subseries K: Photographs

The majority of photographs found in this series are interior shots of Army family housing. Many of the photographs document the substandard conditions of the housing barracks.

Subseries L: General Information and Press Clippings

Many newspaper and magazine articles were retained in this collection. These articles are a good collection of news stories about the Presidio and events that affected the area. The articles provide historical context to this collection.

Subseries M: Environmental Quality Control

These records concern environmental concerns of the Presidio and surrounding areas. Also included are environmental guidelines and informative literature.

Subseries N: Transportation and Recreation
