Welcome to Grand Canyon National Park!

For many, a visit to Grand Canyon is a once in a lifetime opportunity and we hope you find the following pages useful for trip planning. Whether your first visit or your tenth, this planner can help you design the trip of your dreams.

As we welcome over 6 million visitors a year to Grand Canyon, your safety is of the utmost importance to us. We want you to have an enjoyable and memorable visit but most importantly we want you to have a safe visit. Use this information to start planning how you will explore Grand Canyon but don’t be afraid to check in with park staff when you get here. Our knowledgeable rangers can help perfect any itinerary you put together and ensure you leave with happy memories.

Exploring any park, Grand Canyon included, can have some dangers. Be sure you are drinking enough water and eating salty snacks (if hiking). Look down to see where your feet are; we know the views are breathtaking, but don’t forget to keep a safe distance from the rim of the Canyon. Wildlife can be cute or even majestic but maintaining a safe distance and not feeding the animals is best for you and the animal. Just by being aware of these few safety best practices and using all of the trip planning resources available here, we know that you will have a fantastic experience visiting us at Grand Canyon National Park!

Grand Canyon National Park Trip Planner 4
Weather

Current and Year-Round Weather and Road Conditions

SUMMER
June through August on the rims
May to September in the canyon

Beautiful weather shines on the rims, while brutal heat tortures the inner canyon. The high elevation and low humidity causes dramatic changes in temperature from day to night; bring a jacket. The excessive heat in the canyon can be dangerous and even fatal to unprepared hikers. Average rim temperatures range from 48°F (9°C) to 83°F (28°C). Inner canyon temperatures range from 72°F (23°C) to 104°F (40°C).

LIGHTNING DANGER
Common during summer, monsoon storms bring dangerous lightning. When you hear thunder, move away from the canyon rim. Do not stand under trees. Seek shelter inside vehicles, shuttle buses, or buildings; note that shuttle buses only stop at designated bus stops and will not pick you up on the side of the road during a storm. Be aware of possible floods and falling rocks during and after storms.

SPRING AND FALL
April, May, September, and October on the rims.
March, April, October, and early November in the canyon

Come prepared for a variety of conditions during these changeable seasons. May and October are typically dry, but snow on the rims is not unusual. Late April and May feature strong wind on the rims. Seasonable weather in the canyon offers some of the best times for hiking, making permits harder to obtain for overnight camping. Average rim temperatures range from 32°F (0°C) to 63°F (17°C). Inner canyon temperatures range from 56°F (13°C) to 82°F (28°C).

WINTER
November through March on the rims
December to February in the canyon

While the South Rim remains open year-round, the road to the North Rim closes with the first heavy snowfall. Canyon views may be obscured during passing storms, but canyon formations highlighted by snow are unforgettable. Grand Canyon National Park does not refund entrance fees due to weather. The park plows South Rim roads, but temporary closures may occur. Average rim temperatures range from 19°F (-7°C) to 45°F (7°C). Inner canyon temperatures range from 36°F (2°C) to 56°F (13°C).
Parking and Shuttle Buses
The South Rim experiences crowded conditions throughout the year. Parking near the Grand Canyon Visitor Center fills by 10 am during busy periods. For surviving busy times see go.nps.gov/gc_tips

Find additional parking found in lots A–D. Find shuttle bus stops in or near all parking areas. go.nps.gov/gc_parking

Consider using the free shuttle bus system. Running on natural gas, these fully-accessible buses offer easy access to many popular viewpoints and hiking and bicycling opportunities along the South Rim. go.nps.gov/gc_shuttle

Prepare a Day Pack With:

WATER
Pack at least two liters of water depending on hike intensity and duration. Always bring a water treatment method in case of pipeline breaks or repair work.

FOOD
Salty snacks and high-calorie meal(s).

FIRST AID KIT
Include prescription medications, blister care, duct tape, and pocket knife.

MAP OR TRAIL GUIDE
Know your route, including trail quality and water resources.

FLASHLIGHT OR HEADLAMP
Include spare batteries; you may end up hiking in the dark unexpectedly. Cell phones may not provide adequate light and will run out of power.

SUN PROTECTION
Sunscreen, wide-brimmed hat, and sunglasses.

COMMUNICATION
Yelling, a whistle, signal mirrors, and cell phones—while service is limited, phones can be helpful.

EMERGENCY SHELTER
A lightweight tarp provides shade and shelter.

CORRECT GEAR
Layer clothing to protect yourself from the weather. Wear broken-in hiking shoes with good soles. Bring hiking poles to lessen the impact on your joints.

Danger!

DAY HIKES TO THE RIVER
Hiking to the river and back in one day is never recommended due to extreme weather, long distances, and a near 5,000-foot (1,500 m) elevation change each way.

HEALTH RISKS
Familiarize yourself with the symptoms and treatment for heat-related illnesses, hypothermia, dehydration, and electrolyte imbalances.

OVEREXERTION
People often have overly ambitious plans and fail to pace and take care of themselves. If you feel unwell, you must rest. Remember it takes twice as long to hike up as it does to hike down.

NO SWIMMING
The Colorado River is fast, wide, and cold (46°F / 8°C) year-round. Do not swim in the river—you will perish!

DO NOT THROW ROCKS
Rocks or other objects tossed over the edge or dislodged by taking shortcuts can injure hikers and wildlife below.

Hike Smart

PLAN
Keys to a successful hike include knowledge, preparation, and a good plan. Grand Canyon is not the place for spontaneity. Always check weather and trail conditions before you hike.

EAT AND DRINK
Snack every time you drink water or sports drink.

REST
Sit down, prop your legs up, and take a 10-minute break at least once every hour. If you do not feel well, rest until you feel better.

LEAVE NO TRACE
Day hikers can leave quite a mark in the canyon—literally. Write a postcard to your friends instead of writing on walls. Take your trash back out with you, including toilet paper. Do not feed the wildlife, and guard your food from food-habituated animals.

Stay together, follow your plan, and know where and how to seek help.

Do I Need a Permit?

Grand Canyon National Park requires permits for all overnight backcountry camping including:

- hiking
- horseback riding
- cross-country ski trips
- off-river hikes by river trip members
- camping at rim sites other than developed campgrounds

Day hiking, day horseback riding, river trips, mule trips, and overnight stays in dormitories or cabins at Phantom Ranch do not need a backcountry permit.

How to Apply

Obtain all overnight backcountry permits through the Backcountry Information Center. The park only accepts fax, mail, or in-person requests; telephone and email requests are not accepted.

Permit Cost

$10 per permit plus $8 per person or stock animal per night camped below the rim and $8 per group per night camped above the rim. Denied requests will not incur a charge.

Backcountry permits do not include park entrance fees and once submitted cannot be refunded. Permits cancelled at least four days in advance will receive a hiker credit (minus a $10 cancellation charge), valid for one year.
When to Apply
The furthest in advance permit requests are considered by the Backcountry Information Center is the first of the month, four months prior to the proposed start month.

The park begins accepting these earliest consideration requests starting about 10 days before the first of the month that is four months prior to the proposed start month. All earliest consideration requests received by 5 pm mountain standard time on the first of the month are randomly ordered for processing. Once this is completed all later requests are considered in the order received.

Apply early! Popular use areas/campsites fill up the first week of the first month they become available for permit requests. Verbal in-person permit requests are only considered for start dates one to three months out.

Written requests are not accepted for permits with proposed start dates less than 21 days out. Only in-person requests will be considered within this time frame.

Permit Responses
Grand Canyon National Park responds to all written requests via US mail only. Please allow at least three weeks for processing. The park issues a permit and mails it to the trip leader when space is available and all fee requirements are met. If you have been denied a permit through the mail, you may want to consider day hikes or attempt to obtain a last minute, walk-up permit in person at the Backcountry Information Center.

Last Minute Permit for Corridor Campgrounds
A limited number of last minute walk-up permits are available at the South Rim and/or North Rim Backcountry Information Center for Corridor Campgrounds (Indian Garden, Bright Angel, and Cottonwood Campgrounds). These last minute permits are issued in person only, are for one or two consecutive nights, and cannot be purchased more than one day prior to the start of a hike.

Use Areas
Grand Canyon National Park divides the backcountry into use areas, ranging from several hundred to several thousand acres. Each use area has an overnight capacity based on the size of the area, the number of suitable campsites, the area’s ecological sensitivity, its management zoning, and its history. For a list of use areas and additional information visit go.nps.gov/whgm99.

Length of Stay
Camping in the Bright Angel, Indian Garden, Cottonwood, Hermit, Monument, Horseshoe Mesa, and Tapeats use areas is limited to two nights (consecutive or non-consecutive) per campsite or campground per hike. One exception is made to this rule: from November 15 to February 28, up to four nights will be allowed in Bright Angel, Indian Garden, or Cottonwood campgrounds. In use areas other than the seven listed above, trips are limited to a maximum of seven nights per use area; however, overall trip lengths are not limited.

Group Size
Groups are restricted to 11 or fewer people. More permits are available for small groups (one to six people) than for large groups (seven to 11 people). Limiting the size of your group increases the chances of obtaining a permit. Do not obtain multiple permits for the same night for the same campground or use area or all permits will be void.
