Grand Teton National Park News Release

Temporary Road Closure Scheduled for Moose-Wilson Road in Grand Teton National Park

A brief travel closure will be in effect on the unpaved section of the Moose-Wilson Road within Grand Teton National Park on Thursday, September 20, for approximately six to eight hours beginning at 7 a.m. in the morning. The temporary closure is scheduled to allow for grading of the gravel roadbed from the Granite Canyon trailhead to approximately 2 miles north of the trailhead parking area. Road crews will complete the project in the shortest time possible, and barring inclement weather or equipment malfunction, the Moose-Wilson Road will reopen by Thursday afternoon. Local residents and park visitors are advised to plan accordingly and detour away from the Moose-Wilson Road during this temporary closure.

Due to the traffic volumes on the Moose-Wilson Road, the gravel surface has deteriorated over the past several weeks; the road grading work will create a smoother surface and provide an added measure of safety for motorists using this popular park road.
