

The Guilford Courthouse National Military Park Lecture Series

In Conjunction with the 235th Anniversary Observance of the Battle of Guilford Courthouse (March 15, 1781)

Tuesday, March 8th at 7:00pm

"Hessians: Mercenaries, Rebels, and the War for British North America"

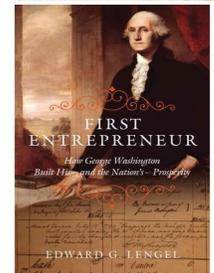

Brady J. Crytzer holds a Master's Degree in History from Slippery Rock University. He has served on the faculties of Robert Morris University and Southern New Hampshire University. A recipient of the Donald S. Kelly Award for outstanding scholarship, he is the author of three books exploring the history of empire in North America.

Wednesday, March 9th at 7:00pm

"First Entrepreneur: How George Washington Built His—and the Nation's—Prosperity"

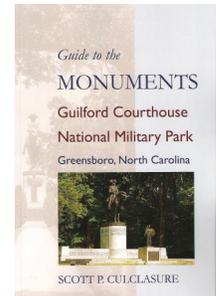

Edward G. Lengel is editor in chief of the Papers of George Washington and a professor at the University of Virginia. A lecturer on Washington and the Revolutionary War, Lengel is also a historical consultant, advising on such works as the History Channel's own comprehensive documentary.

Thursday, March 10th at 7:00pm

"Guide to the Monuments: Guilford Courthouse National Military Park"

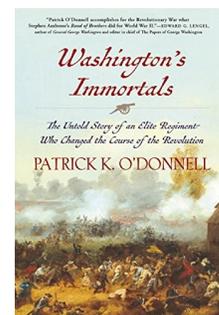

Scott P. Culclasure teaches at the American Hebrew Academy in Greensboro, North Carolina. Since his own school days, Scott has also volunteered at Guilford Courthouse National Military Park, where on many summer afternoons he can be found leading guided walks across this Revolutionary War battlefield.

Friday, March 11th at 7:00pm

"Washington's Immortals: The Untold Story of an Elite Regiment Who Changed the Course of the Revolution"

Patrick K. O'Donnell is a combat historian, bestselling author, and public speaker that has written ten critically acclaimed books recounting the epic stories of America's wars from the Revolution to Iraq. He is a premier expert on elite and special operations units and irregular warfare.

All lectures take place in the theater of the park visitor center, located at 2332 New Garden Road.

All lectures are free to the public, but reservations are required. Seating is limited.

Call (336) 288-1776 for more information and to register for each night's lecture.

The purpose of the annual Guilford Courthouse National Military Park Lecture Series is to serve the educational and general interests of the community through the knowledge and insights of distinguished historians speaking on topics of 18th century history.

Visit <http://www.nps.gov/guco> for details.

Sponsored by the National Park Service and the Guilford Battleground Company.