

Civil War Preservation Trust's Park clean up day 2007

Braving cold, blustery winds, volunteers and park staff worked diligently to clear sections of the School House Ridge Battlefield. Hundreds of yards of old, barbed wire fence, trees and brush were removed.

Thanks to their efforts, the battlefield will soon be open for hikers and history buffs to take in the beautiful views and gain a better understanding of the 1862 Battle of Harpers Ferry and Civil War strategy.
