Captain Flagg's U.S. Quarter Master City: Approach of Peace 1864

Harpers Ferry National Historical Park invites the public to attend Captain Flagg's Quarter Master City: Approach of Peace 1864, December 4-5, 2010. This special living history program offers a glimpse of the town during the Civil War. Flagg's operation provided all the supplies General Philip Sheridan (USA) needed to fight in the Shenandoah Valley. Abraham Lincoln's second election hinged on the success of Sheridan's Valley Campaign. The former U.S. Armory, burned at the outbreak of war, was reclaimed as a war-time supply depot. The country was torn apart by war, but families remained hopeful of reunion with their loved ones. Stroll through the community and look in on the town's simple Yuletide preparations.

Union soldiers attempted to create their own version of Christmas at the front, while living in a town of citizens with questionable loyalties. With the prospects of peace still four months away, young Charles Moulton, of the 34th Massachusetts Regiment, stationed in the Provost Marshal's office, mused about happier times at home. In 1864, the country was torn apart by war, but families remained hopeful of reunion with their loved ones. The event will feature the town under federal occupation. For several months, Harpers Ferry had been the staging area for Union operations in the Shenandoah Valley; successful operations that brought the inevitable end of the conflict ever closer. Troops and supplies steadily poured south from Harpers Ferry by rail and wagon train. Over 60,000 federal soldiers passed through the Shenandoah Valley. Those same means of transportation brought back a steady stream of wounded soldiers, prisoners, and the dead. Buildings at Harpers Ferry that are not used to house supplies are occupied by hospitals, the Christian Commission, and the Sanitary Commission. These organizations provided charity, aid and comfort to soldiers spending another Christmas far from home.

By Christmas 1864, the death toll was rising and the country was still reacting to the recent presidential election. On the home front, Christmas spirit was tempered by concern for the safety of loved ones far from home and in harm's way. Hopes and prayers were that Santa Claus would visit every home, but that a notice of sad tidings from the battlefield would not. The spirit of Christmas, the spirit of hope and charity, the spirit of joy were muted that holiday season, overshadowed by the clouds of war and an occupying army in the field.

Living history talks, tours, and special exhibits, will reveal the past and the present are more similar than one would think. The indomitable spirit of man may find a silver lining in any cloud, even in the clouds of war. It was a fervent hope, for America, and for the troops in the field, that the images of Christmas past and present may, in true Dickensian fashion, help alter the reality of Christmas future, so that all may truly enjoy peace on earth and goodwill to all men.
