

A Sunday of Silhouettes at Hampton

Sunday, December 13, 2015 at 1 pm - 3 pm.

Before photography, silhouette portraiture was the only inexpensive way to remember a loved one. Now the art form is practiced by a handful of people around the world.

Silhouette artist, Lauren Muney will cut miniature profiles of visitors freehand with scissors in less than 2 minutes.

Admission is free. Seating is limited first come first served basis at the Lower House on farm site. No reservations will be accepted. Call 410 823-1309 x254 or visit www.nps.gov/gov for more information. 535 Hampton Lane, Towson, MD 21286. Program is made available due to a generous grant from the Maryland Humanities Council.
