COPYRIGHT AND RESTRICTIONS

The copyright law of the United States (Title 17, United States Code) governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted materials. The various state privacy acts govern the use of materials that document private individuals, groups, and corporations.

Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a reproduction if the document does not infringe the privacy rights of an individual, group, or corporation. These specified conditions of authorized use include:

- non-commercial and non-profit study, scholarship, research, or teaching
- criticism, commentary, or news reporting
- as a NPS preservation or security copy
- as a research copy for deposit in another institution

If a user later utilizes a copy or reproduction for purposes in excess of “fair use,” the user may be personally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement. This institution’s permission to obtain a photographic, xerographic, digital, or other copy of a document doesn’t indicate permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, sell, distribute, or prepare derivative works from this document without first obtaining permission from the copyright holder and from any private individual, group, or corporation shown or otherwise recorded.

Permission to publish, exhibit, perform, reproduce, prepare derivative works from, sell, or otherwise distribute the item must be obtained by the user separately in writing from the holder of the original copyright (or, if the creator is dead, from his/her heirs) as well as from any individual(s), groups, or corporations whose name, image, recorded words, or private information (e.g., employment information) may be reproduced in the source material. The holder of the original copyright isn’t necessarily the National Park Service. The National Park Service is not legally liable for copyright, privacy, or publicity infringement when materials are wrongfully used after being provided to researchers for “fair use.”

This institution reserves the right to refuse to accept a copying order if fulfillment of the order is judged in violation of copyright or federal or state privacy or publicity law.

HISTORY

Established in 1916 by a congressional act, Hawaii National Park was the 15th national park in the United States. Originally called Hawaii National Park and composed of the volcanoes Kilauea and Mauna Loa on Hawaii and the volcano Haleakala on Maui, in 1960 the park split into two parks, Haleakala National Park (HALE) and Hawaii Volcanoes National Park (HAVO). In its early years, the park was comprised of the volcanoes Kilauea and Mauna Loa and additional private lands from within and around park boundaries. The park added additional lands in subsequent decades that included state and private lands in the Puna District and ranch lands in the southernmost area of the Kau District, and, as of 2010, it encompassed 323,431 acres.

The park harbors distinct plants and animals and has seven diverse ecological zones: seacoast, lowland, mid-elevation woodland, rain forest, upland forest, subalpine, and alpine. Mauna Loa, the earth's largest volcano at 13,677 feet (4,169 meters), last erupted in 1984. Kilauea began erupting in 1983 and has continued as of 2012. The International Biosphere Reserve selected Hawaii Volcanoes National Park (HAVO) for these diverse features in 1980 and UNESCO chose Hawaii Volcanoes National Park (HAVO) as a World Heritage Site in 1987. The park's administration staff is charged with overseeing all the divisions of the park, including protection, maintenance, interpretation, cultural resources, natural resources, and education. It also oversees park lands and acquisitions as well as concessioners who operate as partners within the park and private business entities such as tour operators.

This series consists of fifty-two file units, arranged alphabetically by subject.

Compliance is a function of Administration at Hawaii Volcanoes National Park. The purpose of Compliance is to advise the park regarding compliance requirements set forth by governmental rules and regulations, including the National Environmental Policy Act, National Historic Preservation Act, Endangered Species Act, and Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act. In addition, Compliance works with multiple Hawaii Volcanoes National Park divisions to maintain and preserve cultural and natural resources within the park. Compliance prepares mandated reviews for park planning, participates in documenting potential compliance concerns or infractions, tracks and monitors projects, and works closely with divisions to ensure adherence to all laws and regulations outlined in the aforementioned preservation acts.

Compliance is also co-representative for Section 106 Review of the National Historic Preservation Act at the federal, state, and county levels, in addition to the general public doing business or research within the park, including concessionaires, contractors, and those working with special-use permits.

The largest of the file units includes the Air Tour Management Program, Crater Rim Drive, Environmental Assessment, Fire Environmental Assessment, Kilauea Military Camp, Military Overflights, Project Reviews, Sulphur Banks, and Ungulate Environmental Impact Statement. These file units contain many of the records associated with compliance and related to affected environments, alternatives, Categorical Exclusions, Cultural Assessment, Environmental Impact Statements, Environmental Assessments, Finding of No Significant Impact, Purpose and Needs, and Public Scoping.
