Volcano in Slo-mo: What High Speed Cameras tell us about Lava Lakes and Explosions

Tuesday December 8th at 7:00 pm
Kīlauea Visitor Center Auditorium

Around the world volcanologists are finding new ways to use technology to better understand volcanic eruptions. Join Jacopo Taddeucci of the National Institute of Geophysics and Volcanology, Rome for a special evening presentation. His expertise in volcanology and geology has made him a pioneer in the use of high-speed cameras to capture volcanic explosions. This talk will feature spectacular footage from Stromboli, Etna, Yasur (New Hebrides), Sakurajima (Japan), and Fuego (Guatemala) and Batu-Tara (Indonesia) and yes - Kīlauea.
