

‘Ike Hana No‘eau

Experience the Skillful Work

Kōkō

NPS Photo

Wednesday May 22, 2019

Outside Kīlauea Visitor Center from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m.

Kōkō (carrying net), usually made of sennit, was used for hanging calabashes. Kōkō pu‘alu, a style which was reserved for the common classes and utilized the basic umi‘i, or “fisherman’s” knot. Bring your own water bottle or pick one up at our bookstore and make your very own customized Kōkō.

‘Ike Hana No‘eau is a series of Hawaiian cultural programs co-sponsored by Hawai‘i Pacific Parks Association.

Park entrance fees apply.

