

Assessment Rubric for Developmental Benchmark Competency
Prepare and Present an Effective Conducted Activity

Demonstrates certification standards: The conducted activity is...

1) successful as a catalyst in creating a sequence of opportunities for members of the group to form their own intellectual and emotional connections with meanings/significance inherent in the resource;

AND

2) it provides a series of experiences that supports the cohesive development of a relevant idea related to those resources.

Approaching certification standards: The conducted activity may be...

1) successful as a catalyst in creating a sequence of opportunities for members of the group to form their own intellectual and emotional connections with meanings/significance inherent in the resource;

OR

2) it provides a series of experiences that supports the cohesive development of a relevant idea related to those resources;

OR NEITHER.