

Explore and Discover Cave Education

Project Underground is an educational curriculum designed by cavers and environmental educators for teachers wishing to enhance their professional development. The activities offer thought provoking ways to engage kids in the classroom through simple experiments or long-term project observations.

The overall workshop offers ten sessions that mix science with adventure. Participating teachers are expected to take part in an assortment of lively sessions. All participants receive a curriculum guide for their own personal use, and all materials related to the activities are provided.

These materials and workshops are designed for classroom teachers, park, museum and nature center staff, and any youth-oriented group leaders.
