

WANTED: SCIENTISTS & EXPERT NATURALISTS

BugBlitz 2016

Friday, May 6

Barataria Preserve/Jean Lafitte National Historical Park and Preserve

Photo: Donata Henry

IF SCIENCE & NATURE ARE YOUR PROFESSION OR YOUR PASSION...BUGBLITZ NEEDS YOU!

Scientists, expert naturalists, and undergraduate- and graduate-level college students are invited to join the National Park Service at Jean Lafitte's Barataria Preserve in Marrero for BugBlitz 2016 on Friday, May 6.

- lead or assist with an inventory team
- identify species
- gather environmental and habitat information

Take a scientific snapshot as experts and volunteers search for, count, map, and learn about the preserve's arthropods.

Inventory teams will be open to students on school field trips, scout groups, families, and anyone with an interest in science and nature. BugBlitz goals are to increase knowledge of biodiversity in the preserve and encourage interest in citizen science.

More information and online registration
at www.nps.gov/jela
504-689-3690 ext 10

