John Fitzgerald Kennedy was very competitive with his older brother Joe. Jr. J.F.K was sick often as a boy. He did not always pay attention when he was well enough to go to school because he wanted to be different from his older brother. Joe.Jr always payed attention. Although J.F.K grew up to be the first Catholic Presedent, as a child, he was often picked on by his older brother. J.F.K proved he was loyal and caring despite being picked on.

J.F.K founded the Peace Corps to help people all around the world. He was loyal to his friends and fellow workers. Once, as captian of the boat PT 109, the boat was Sunk by a Japanese destroyer, a man that was too hurt to swim was on the boat J.F.K took the man's life jacket strap in his teeth and Swam, for five hours untill they were on the beach of an island.

Another way J.F.K showed he was loyal and caring was he helped to put an end to segragation. Working with Martin Luther King Jr, he convinced people that the color of your skin does not matter.

I chose to write about J.F.K being a loyal and caring leader because he meant a lot to many people both when he was alive and now. He worked hard to make sure Citizens had a good life in America.

Many people think of J.F.K as the man who did all those wonderful things. I think of him as a boy who wanted to make his own way in the world. J.F.K was a good leader because he did things his own way.
