

The National Park Service, the Atascadero Mutual Water Company, and the City of Paso Robles present two opportunities to explore the Anza Trail in San Luis Obispo County:

Talking history.

The Anza Trail & the Spanish Settlement of California

Friday, May 16, 7PM - 8:30PM
Atascadero Lake Pavilion
9315 Pismo Ave., Atascadero, CA

This dessert lecture sponsored by the Atascadero Mutual Water Company will include a showing of the 25-minute film, The Anza Expedition, followed by a talk and Q&A with park ranger from the National Park Service.

RSVP requested to 805-464-5347 or jhendrickson@amwc.us

Walking history.

Guided River Walk Along the Juan Bautista de Anza National Historic Trail

Saturday, May 17, 10AM - Noon
Larry Moore Park, Paso Robles, CA
(100 Block of Riverbank Lane)

The City of Paso Robles and the National Park Service inaugurate a new series of bilingual, interpretive exhibits along the Salinas River Trail. A 3-mile round-trip walk will share the story of the 1775-76 Anza Expedition and include a ribbon-cutting of the new panels.

For more information, contact 415-623-2344 or hale\_sargent@nps.gov

The Juan Bautista de Anza National Historic Trail

In 1776, the first overland colonizing expedition to California passed through present-day San Luis Obispo County, homeland of the Salinan people, on its way to San Francisco Bay.

The arrival of this Anza Expedition heralded an era of change for California. These settlers of mixed African, European, and Native American ancestry would lay a new cultural foundation for the American West.

Today, our nation commemorates their journey as a turning point in American history. Discover their legacy on the Juan Bautista de Anza National Historic Trail.

