

Inorganic/Organic: Most living cells incorporate carbon into their structure. A molecule that contains carbon is said to be organic. A molecule that does not is inorganic.